Washington (AP)—President Johnson, his recovery from surgery pronounced excellent by his doctors, hopes to leave the hospital and return to the White House sometime Thursday.

Just when was not yet determined, Presidential Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said, adding he expects it will probably be in the morning and that the President will go home by auto.

It will be exactly two weeks since Johnson underwent a gall bladder operation and had a kidney stone removed.

All the way, his recovery was on schedule, but aides and doctors continued to predict a longer-than-expected recuperation period. They spoke of from a month to six weeks—with the President taking his official duties more slowly than he has been.

Suns, Putts

Johnson, meanwhile, spent about four hours out in the warm October weather, sunning himself and putting a bit on a golf green on the Bethesda Naval Hospital grounds.

He also did some more walking. "At least two miles" this time, Moyers estimated. Johnson got the good news about his condition after undergoing examinations late Tuesday night and Wednesday.

"Everything was in good order," Moyers reported. Johnson's electrocardiogram was "perfect" and his blood pressure better than that of any of the doctors there, including the youngest.

Not So Enthusiastic

The patient himself was a little less enthusiastic than his doctors. Johnson said he feels "as well as you'd expect," but he didn't want to give the impression "I feel the way I did the day I came in."

He joked that he'd gotten "two operations for the price of one." Pulling up his shirt, the President showed the area of the incision for the gall bladder operation and removal of a kidney stone.

Speaking of the surgeons' work, he commented:

"Everywhere that hand went, I can still feel it."

FCC Clears Live TV For Gemini Ocean Recovery

Washington (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission cleared the way Wednesday for live television coverage from the aircraft carrier Wasp of next week's recovery of the two Gemini 6 astronauts from the Atlantic.

It would be the first live transmission from a recovery area since the U.S. man in space program began.

An FCC spokesman said the commission approved a plan for the three television networks to beam the television signal from the Wasp to the Early Bird communications satellite, which will relay it to the satellite ground station in Andover, Maine, for transmission to the networks.

FCC authorization was needed for establishment of a transmitting station aboard the aircraft carrier as well as for use of the Early Bird link.

Teacher Insurance Plan Reviewed By Officials

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln Education Association (LEA) and Bankers Life Nebraska representatives conferred Wednesday with State Insurance Director Frank Barrett regarding a proposed health, accident and life insurance plan for Lincoln school district employees.

LEA President Robert L. Johnson said the informal meeting was requested because of "misinformation being generated publicly about the plan."

Johnson blamed competing insurance interests "for attempting to discourage employee participation in the LEA-sponsored group plan with misinformation and even misrepresentation."

Voluntary enrollment of eligible members in the group plan is now under way with some 930 signed up, Johnson said. School District employees exceed 2,000, but not all are eligible for the plan.

Barrett declined comment on the proposed group plan, noting, "There's nothing officially before the department."

"At the moment," he said, "it's a matter for the board of education and their employees to determine their insurance program and participation criteria."

Barrett said the plan would be reviewed at the proper time for compliance with state insurance statutes.

Package Bids

The proposed group plan was accepted by the LEA on package bids of Bankers Life Nebraska for the life portion and Blue Cross-Blue Shield for medical and hospitalization.

Details of the contract specifications, bid opening and negotiations were turned over to the LEA by the school board, which authorized a $25,000 contribution from public funds to the selected group insurance plan.

Johnson said the LEA executive and insurance committee selected the successful bidders "as having the best package plan in highest benefits and lowest administrative costs."

He said the group plan will cost members a top of $28.15 per month for the same benefits for which an individual policy holder would pay $40.

By Teachers For Teachers While the proposed plan was "devised by teachers for teachers," Johnson said, "it was broadened to be open to all district employees at the suggestion of the board of education."

Johnson predicted that the minimum membership (75% on group life plans and 25% on group health plans) required by insurance law would be reached.

"There has been a greater percentage of sign-up among professional employees of the district," he said. "There have been fewer enrollments from the non-professional group, but there is also a greater percentage of non-eligibles."

Johnson said only full-time employees are eligible, with 30 hours being the minimum for

Iowan Burns Draft Card ... AT 'SOUND-OFF' DEBATE ON VIET NAM

Iowa City, Iowa (AP)—A University of Iowa student burned what he said was his draft card before a group of students in the Memorial Union on the campus Wednesday, saying it was "something I had to do."

Steve Smith, 20, sophomore engineering student from Marion, Iowa, said he felt United States policy in Viet Nam is immoral, and "I feel I am immoral if I stand by and keep my mouth shut."

He said he expected to be arrested by the FBI for his action, but that "I am ready to serve five years for my country."

The incident took place at a weekly campus event known as "Soap Box Sound-off," where any student may stand up and speak his mind about virtually any subject.

Word had circulated on the campus of Smith's intention to burn his draft card at the affair, and television cameras were present.

In Omaha Charles H. De-ford, special agent in charge of the Iowa-Nebraska field office of the FBI, said his office was aware of the incident and had it under investigation. He said when all the facts are gathered they will be presented to the U.S. attorney for the Southern District of Iowa for an opinion on the appropriate action. Deford said his office had learned of Smith's announced plans through advance publicity but did not have agents present at the gathering. Agents are now investigating, he said.

A debate centering on Viet Nam had been raging for nearly 1½ hours before Smith got up and set the card afire.

Smith said he had a brother in Southeast Asia with the armed services in Thailand and he has felt for more than a year that U.S. policy in that area is wrong.

He said it made him "sick to the stomach" to do what he was doing, but it was "something I had to do."

Brother In Guard

Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith of Marion, said he has another brother in the National Guard, and a third who is employed by Collins Radio Co. of Cedar Rapids, which holds major defense contracts.

Smith took part last March in a "sit-in" in front of the post office here by a group of students seeking to raise funds for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee for civil rights work in the South.

Smith himself went south to do civil rights work and reported he was beaten shortly after his arrival there.

Second Reported

It was the second reported incident of its kind since Friday when David J. Miller, 22, of Syracuse, N.Y., publicly burned what he said was his draft card near an armed forces induction center in New York City.

FBI agents arrested Miller at Manchester, N.H., Monday and charged him with destroying his draft card.

Conviction, under a new law signed last Aug. 30, carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Shell Floors OK'd At Lincoln General ... TO BE ADDED TO BUILDING UNDER CONSTRUCTION

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

In a split decision, the Lincoln Hospital and Health Council passed a hotly contested resolution approving the addition of three shell floors to the five-story Lincoln General Hospital building now under construction at what was described as a "bargain price."

The proposal presented to the council Tuesday and approved in a special meeting Wednesday drew opposition from St. Elizabeth Hospital representatives and other quarters on the grounds it would jeopardize the Catholic hospital's application for Hill-Burton federal money and change the community unit plan for which the recent fund drive was held.

The 7-2 approval, with two members not voting, was preceded with a statement from St. Elizabeth representatives saying that the hospital "reluctantly opposed the action because it:

—"Fears this may jeopardize St. Elizabeth's application for Hill-Burton funds for acute general hospital beds within the community unit plan; —"Feels this action may be breaking faith with those to whom the community unit plan was presented; and —"Feels the hospital council is risking a possible $1.75 million in Hill-Burton funds for this community in an effort to save $350,000-$500,000."

Voting for the resolution were Don Parker, Sen. Fern Orme, Robert Guenzel, Bob Simon, Joseph Soshnik, Mrs. Roscoe Hill and Ralph Harlan.

Opposed were Ken Witt and William Dobler. Eugene Edwards and acting chairman Robert Crosby did not vote.

Herbert Hopkins of Lincoln General reported Tuesday that Olson Construction Co. had offered to build the three shell floors for chronic beds for "what is considered to be a bargain price" of $300,000, but it had to be started immediately or the originally planned floors would have to be roofed.

Lincoln General had previously planned to remodel the 17th St. wing of the hospital for chronic care beds at an approximate cost of $300,000.

Saving

However, Hopkins pointed out that long-range operation and increased construction costs would effect a saving for the city of some $350,000-$500,000.

Guenzel told the council that the construction would be financed from Lincoln Hospital Association. Moore funds and later said it would eventually have to be replaced by the city.

"I would presume it (the three-floor addition) would be sold to the city," he said, adding that one method might be a "fund drive in the future" to buy it for the city.

None of the shell construction costs initially would come from the United Hospital Fund drive or from city funds, he said.

St. Elizabeth offered a resolution to the council which would have approved the Lincoln General addition "provided that a poll is taken of the members of both the State Hospital Advisory Board and the State Board of Health," definitely establishing that the construction would not prejudice their decision in the future with "respect to their approval of St. Elizabeth's Hospital as a priority for Hill-Burton funds."

Conducted Before

Witt pointed out that such polls had been conducted of these boards in a short period of time in the past, but some members protested that a poll of the current board would be meaningless since a new board will take over soon.

Simon and Dobler, at the direction of the council Tuesday, did obtain written assurance from Verne Pangborn, State Hospital Division director in charge of planning, saying that he personally felt acute funds available under the federal act would not be affected by any chronic program.

Pangborn is not a member of either board.

The resolution passed by the council approved the construction for chronic care only "as a substitution for previously contemplated use" of the present 17th St. wing provided "such approval does not change previously recommended priority for Hill-Burton funds and that such construction can be financed with any change in previous fund allocations."

Former Lincoln Woman Apparent Slaying Victim

Denver, Colo. (AP)—A woman whose body was found Oct. 1 near Limon in eastern Colorado was identified Wednesday as Juanita Irene Smith, 48, formerly of Lincoln, Neb.

Denver police said Vernard Hamm, 48, had made an oral statement saying he left the woman near Limon after arguing with her in his home in suburban Denver Sept. 19.

Capt. George Seaton quoted Hamm as saying he pushed her across a bed. He said Hamm said he didn't know whether she was dead when he put her in the car and drove to Limon.

An autopsy showed she died of a broken neck.

Seaton said Adams County officers recovered a bag of clothing and sheets which Hamm said he had hidden under a rock in the Platte River the day after leaving the woman near Limon.

Hamm was to be turned over to Adams County authorities.

A Denver woman, also named Juanita Smith, was credited with providing the lead which led to the identification of the body.

She received a letter postmarked in Boulder with a couple of pictures and a Social Security card. The card wasn't hers and she turned the letter over to police, thinking it might have some bearing on the case.

Seaton said detectives found a woman named Juanita Smith had lived in Lincoln, Neb. He said her legal husband, Raymond B. Smith, 70, of 927 No. 30th, was contacted in Lincoln and said he hadn't seen her for a couple of years.

Seaton said a set of fingerprints sent from Lincoln matched those of the dead woman.

Seaton said detectives learned Mrs. Smith had been living with Hamm.

Mrs. Smith spent 1960, 1961 and part of 1962 in Lincoln, according to Denver police, who said she is believed to have sisters living in Lincoln and Crete.

Research Center Prospect Spurs Clay Center Boom

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Clay Center—This town doesn't have time to ponder whether the chicken or the egg comes first.

Although the figure of speech doesn't fit a beef research station, it does describe the determination here to "be ready when and whenever the station comes." With a new housing project and new streets and new medical clinic—and most of all a new outlook—Clay Center isn't the town it was one year ago.

"There's no question but it's the research station that's pushing us, but it's pushing in the right direction," said Jay Sullivan. Personally involved in two main improvements, the young attorney mirrors general optimism over the "slow-but-sure" facility.

To be known as the Midwest Regional Meat Animal Research Station, the operation will be on land now occupied by the Hastings Naval Ammunition Depot. When fully developed, 18,500 head of sheep, cattle and swine will roam its 35,000 acres.

World's Largest

"It is the world's largest livestock research program and it will be just beyond our city limits," continued Sullivan. "We want to be in a position to attract its people."

Rights Worker Witness Didn't Hear Death Shot

Hayneville, Ala. (AP)—A 20-year-old Negro civil rights worker said Wednesday during the second murder trial of a young Ku Klux Klansman that he never heard the shots which killed a white woman last March 25 in Lowndes County.

"I just heard glass breaking, I didn't hear any shot. It happened so fast, I didn't know what was going on," said Leroy Moton, who was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, 39, a Detroit housewife, when she was shot and killed following a civil rights march.

Moton's testimony came in the trial of Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, after a state supreme court ruling on selection of jurors cleared the way to resume the trial. A jury was picked in less than 25 minutes after the case was resumed. The first trial resulted in a deadlocked jury.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Joe Brock Gamit asked Moton, "When you got out of the car, did you examine Mrs. Liuzzo?"

"No I didn't," Moton replied. "She didn't say anything and I was scared." He testified the shooting occurred after a red car pulled up beside Mrs. Liuzzo's car about 20 miles from Selma.

"The car was following us," he said, adding he could not tell who was in the car.

Moton underwent extensive cross-examination by Defense Attorney Arthur J. Hanes, former Mayor of Birmingham and a one-time FBI agent.

Moton explained that he was transportation officer for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee in Selma.

Duty Questioned

"Was it part of your duty as transportation officer to make love to Mrs. Liuzzo," Hanes asked.

The prosecution objected and was sustained by Judge T. Werth Thager.

Flowers said the state will call eight witnesses Thursday, including the key witness of the first trial, Gary Thomas Rowe, a paid FBI informer inside the KKK.

Flowers said he hoped to conclude the state's case Thursday.

The supreme court in Montgomery earlier rejected Flowers' argument that 11 prospective jurors should be disqualified because they said they regard white civil rights workers as inferior.

HIGHLANDS GARRISON HOLDS OUT

Reports from nearby Pleiku said medical helicopters had been unable to land to evacuate wounded, however.

A military spokesman said the camp came under mortar and small arms fire during the night. A Viet Cong probing action that was beaten back with the help of air support was the only report of fighting Thursday.

U.S. planes flew 100 sorties in support of the defenders Wednesday and dropped them ammunition.

The Viet Cong attacked Plei Me in one of two big strikes Tuesday night, both of which cost them heavy casualties.

Casualties among the defenders were reported light.

Rhodesia's Balking Relief To British

London (AP)—Rhodesia's all-white government withheld its threatened declaration of independence Wednesday and relieved British leaders saw weakening resolve in the delay.

Interrupting a long meeting of his cabinet in Salisbury, Prime Minister Ian Smith announced "a decision in principle" had been taken on independence, but he kept it secret.

Instead, Smith sent off to Prime Minister Harold Wilson in London another message, blending an appeal with a threat, that seems likely to keep the ball in play between the two capitals for quite a while.

Smith's appeal: "Grant us our independence and put us on trust to abide by the principles of the 1961 constitution."

This was a reference to Wilson's insistence that a settlement must lead to majority rule by the colony's 3.8 million Africans now governed by representatives of about 250,000 whites.

Smith's threat: "We have made our decision on what our next step should be."

The implication was that if Wilson turns him down then Rhodesia will seize independence anyway.

On the surface Smith's words had the ring of an ultimatum, British authorities said. If his final demand is not met, he seemed to be saying, then he will go it alone and very soon too.

But delving more deeply into the body of Smith's letter British officials said they detected some signs of a weakening posture. They said they believe he is offering Wilson the chance to keep the dialogue going between London and Salisbury.

The giveaway passage in Smith's letter, which the British said seems to signal the chance of an initiative by Wilson, read:

"I agree that I accepted your five principles as a basis for negotiations and that they held the field throughout all the discussions from February until this month."

In brief, the five points represent Britain's terms for granting Rhodesia statehood. They call for guarantees:

—For unimpeded progress toward African rule.

—Against regressive amendment of the constitution.

—For improving the political status of the Africans now.

—To repeal all laws embodying racial discrimination.

—To insure that an independence settlement is acceptable to the Rhodesian people as a whole.

Prince Slew Mad Monk To Tune Of 'Yankee Doodle'

New York (UPI)—Russian Prince Felix Youssouppoff told an American jury Wednesday how he plied the "mad monk" Rasputin with poisoned food and bullets in a basement room of the Youssouppoff palace while a gramophone upstairs played "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy."

RASPUTIN . . . mad monk.

movie and television dramas. A 1963 video show, "If I should Die," brought the prince to court to sue the Columbia Broadcasting System for $1.5 million damages for invasion of privacy.

The prince said he persuaded Rasputin to come to the family's Moika Palace where he and three other conspirators had poisoned wine, tea and cakes waiting. Youssouppoff said he sang to the monk as he ate, expecting him to die quickly, but Rasputin only got sick and acted drunk, asking him to sing some more.

Amazed

"A noise came from upstairs and I told him my wife (Princess Irina Romanoff) had friends with her and when her friends went home we would go up," Youssouppoff testified. "I went up to the other conspirators and they expressed amazement that Rasputin wasn't dead. Grand Duke Dmitri (the czar's cousin) gave me his gun and said, 'We must kill him.'"

The prince said he went downstairs again and found Rasputin sitting in a chair. He told the monk to pray, then shot him at close range in the heart and the liver. But Rasputin still had the strength to leap at his host and try to throttle him.

Rasputin then ran out into the palace courtyard and fell in the snow. One of the conspirators, a member of the duma (parliament) named Pourichkevitch, took the gun away from Youssouppoff and fired three shots into Rasputin, but still he did not die.

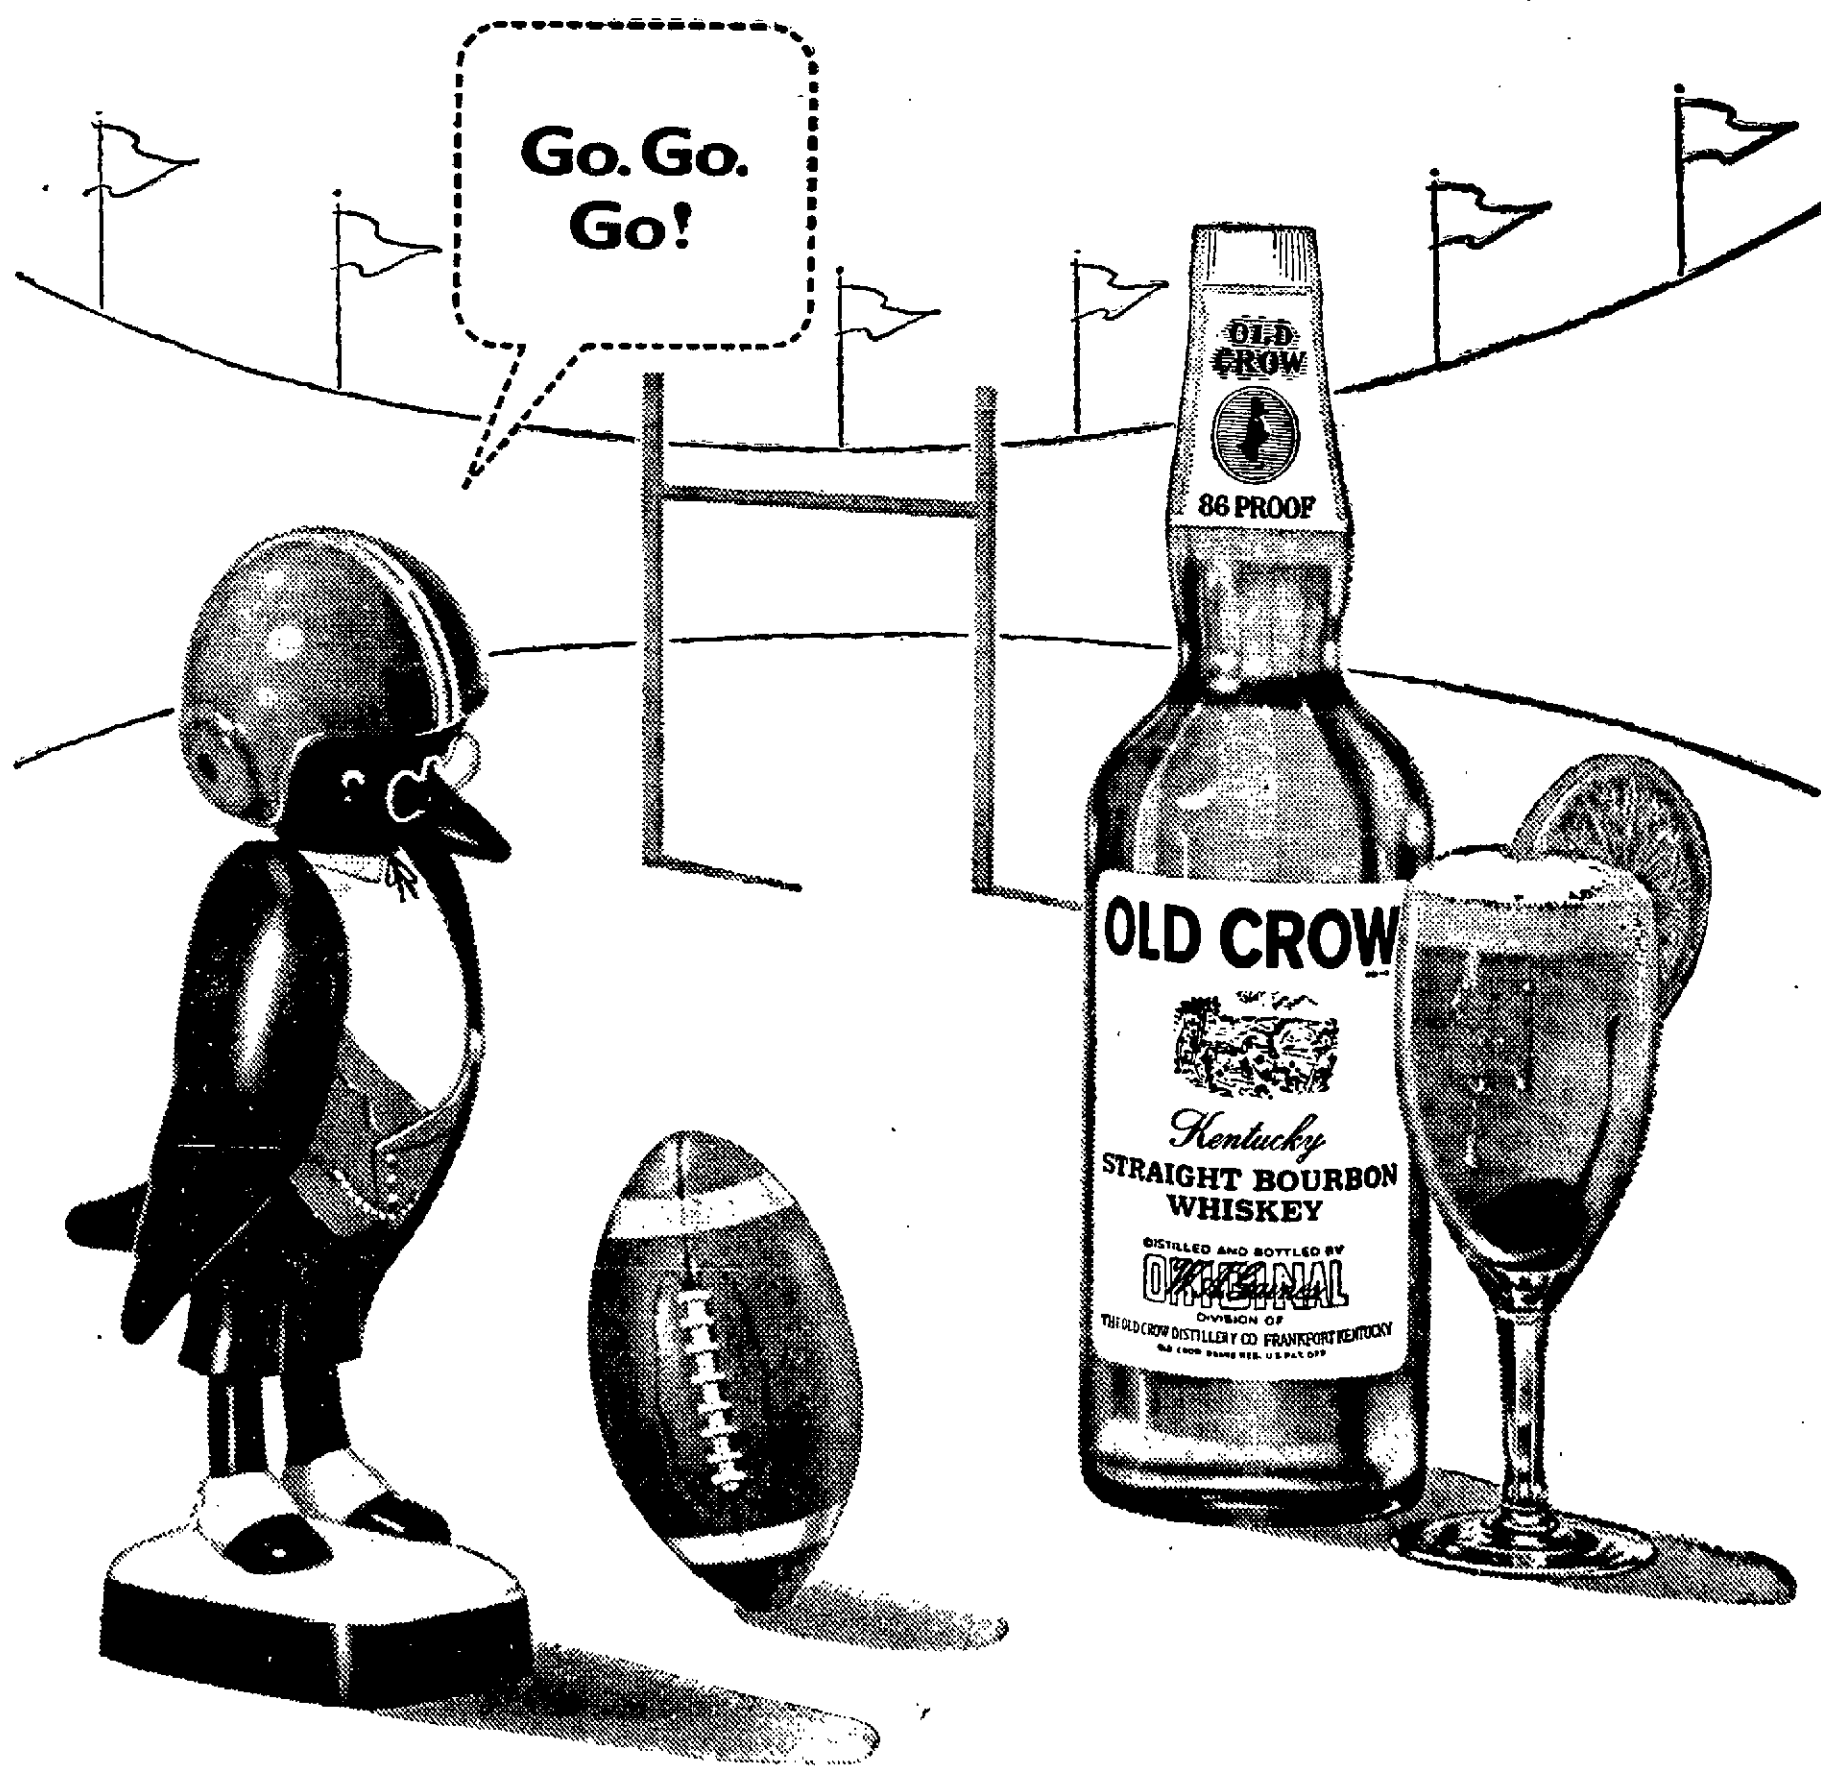

"I took a truncheon and beat him over the head and tried to kill him," Youssouppoff said.

Finally the monk appeared lifeless and Dmitri threw his body in the nearly frozen Neva River back of the palace.

Woman's Goal Said 'Enriching Her Life'

"The goal of today's woman is one of enriching life for herself and her family," Mrs. Bernard Richter of Kearney was one of four panel speakers who discussed the rapidly-changing role of women in an ever-changing world under the topic, "Mrs. Homemaker — 1966."

Mrs. Richter said the goal of modern woman was not possible to achieve in yesterday when Mother and Grandmother devoted much of their time to simply keeping the family clothed and fed.

Within the now-broadened role of the woman, however, she can ask herself, "What have I contributed to my family and neighbors today?"

Speaking to a capacity crowd of women from throughout the state at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, the Buffalo County homemaker declared that the role of the homemaker has never been more important than at present.

Because the mother is the architect and builder of the leaders of tomorrow, she said, it is up to her to develop the "head and heart power" in American youth, who in turn will determine America's future as a nation.

Another panelist, Mrs. Clifford Jorgensen of Lincoln, observed that "citizens are a reflection of families and schools," and urged that women be as concerned with community affairs as are men on Main Street.

Many community services, she said, cannot be purchased or employed, but must be volunteered. Thus, a woman discovers her own potential and interests through work in the community, the speaker said.

Not Against Man

State Senator Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln advised the women that if they are to play more than a passive role in public affairs, they must become involved in the workings of politics, become familiar with the mechanism of elections and be prepared to become candidates.

The role of women in public affairs is not to compete with men, she said, but rather to work jointly for community betterment.

Speaking on behalf of the woman's role in a profession outside the home, Mrs. Sue Smith of Lincoln said that "marriage and a career" is no longer a "maybe" but a fact. Many women are creating their own jobs and helping supplement the family income by using their own skills, location and education, she said. Mrs. Smith, herself a mother and career journalist, advised the women to "keep your education current," to meet the rapidly-increasing need for highly-skilled workers of all ages.

Omaha Council Trades City Hall

Omaha (U)—The Omaha City Council, in what observers called a history-making decision, voted unanimously Tuesday to accept an offer to exchange the Elks Club building for the 76-year-old Omaha City Hall.

The action means that Omaha city government moves to temporary quarters in the Elks building by Jan. 19, the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society will raise the old building, tenants of the Woodmen owned insurance building east of City Hall will be given notice to move, and a new Woodmen building, costing $15 to $16 million and rising about 25 stories, will be built facing the courthouse.

Meanwhile, city officials must begin planning for a new city hall, its site still to be selected. The target date for finishing it is Jan. 1968.

Omaha (UPI)—The new main duties of former police chief Harold Ostler were told for the first time Wednesday.

Ostler, who was demoted to captain in March, 1964, is writing a manual to guide Omaha policemen, according to Public Safety Director Francis E. Lynch.

The former chief has an appeal pending before the Nebraska Supreme Court. He was transferred from central police headquarters, where he had worked in the services bureau, and was assigned to a City Hall office by Mayor A. V. Sorensen in July.

O'Neill Cow Has Sextuplets

O'Neill, Neb. (UPI) — A cow on the Jim Corkle farm east of here bore six calves sometime Friday, it was discovered.

All were normal, but smaller than usual, weighing about 50 pounds each.

They were reported on their feet and nursing.

In Lincoln, a University of Nebraska livestock expert said he had never before heard of sextuplet calves being born to a cow.

Dr. L. J. Sumption, associate professor of animal science, said it is difficult to establish the odds on such a multiple birth because the instances have not always been reported.

woman's role in a profession outside the home, Mrs. Sue Smith of Lincoln said that "marriage and a career" is no longer a "maybe" but a fact. Many women are creating their own jobs and helping supplement the family income by using their own skills, location and education, she said. Mrs. Smith, herself a mother and career journalist, advised the women to "keep your education current," to meet the rapidly-increasing need for highly-skilled workers of all ages.

It's A Dirty Business

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

With no affection whatsoever, U.S. soldiers refer to the conflict in Viet Nam as a dirty war. That might be a little hard to understand on the part of people who fail to comprehend how war of any kind could be anything but dirty. Killing even in war is a dirty business under any circumstances. In past wars, however, things have not been as they are in Viet Nam.

In World War II and World War I one at least knew for sure who the enemy was. Nor were the ranks of either side filled with women and children who, of necessity, had to be mowed down as though they were adult males. And just as the war in Viet Nam is a dirty business, so are some of the things taking place in this nation. Burning of draft cards is a dirty business, too, because it cuts across many things. A young New Yorker has been indicted and released on $500 bail after having burned his draft card in protest against U.S. military involvement in Viet Nam.

The young man faces a possible fine of up to $10,000 and a jail sentence of five years. Reportedly, the young man is ready for the jail sentence if that turns out to be the product of his actions. To those who see things as this young man, the case is an example of magnificent courage but to others it is something quite different.

It could turn out that the young New Yorker is right but such is seriously doubted. He may be correct in his disagreement with U.S. Asian policies but he has chosen the wrong way of attempting to change these policies. One does not alter the law of the land simply by violating it. That kind of action changes nothing but only heaps difficulties upon those who take it.

Does it take more courage to burn a draft card or to live in harmony with the laws of the land until such time as they fit the patterns of your own thought? Perhaps they will never come to fit the patterns of your own thought but you need never cease fighting for this. Those who would burn a draft card have many other avenues of action open to them. Avenues that are honorable and constructive. They could run for public office themselves and, if elected, be a part of the law-making machinery of our national government. In the course of campaigning, they could engage in education of the electorate as they saw fit.

Or, they could simply take an active role in politics, working in behalf of a particular candidate or for the party of their choice. As a voter, such a person can cast his ballot for anyone who appeals to him. He can write letters to public officials and can engage in public and private conversations to his heart's content. In general, he can develop his own mind and body to the fullest of their potential and thereby greatly enhance his opportunity of exerting influence upon his fellow men. He can, in other words, use a multitude of legal means to achieve the ends he seeks, to mold the nation and the world into the kind of order he fashions as an ideal. If burning a draft card is the only means of influence that a person can devise, it would seem that he is admitting to a certain failure, a certain weakness.

It can be quite correctly pointed out that some of the greatest human achievements of civilization were at the expense of existing laws and customs. Our own revolution was the product of men who could and would no longer tolerate their subjugation to laws they felt constituted an injustice against them. As a result, they simply declared themselves to be exempt from such law.

Obviously, there is a time when principle takes precedence over law and order. But it does not follow that one such time or any number of such times make this an always right or perfect answer. Generally speaking, we live by democratic principles that call for our participation in public affairs of the day and our adherence in our private lives to those rules that have been adopted by the society in which we live.

Thus, one finds great difficulty in viewing the burning of a draft card as anything but a simple violation of the law. The unfortunate part of it is that those who do so, in some cases, will find themselves in serious difficulty for having stood up for principles in which they believed. What is normally a laudable procedure turns out for them to be an indictment. Thus, it is a dirty business, too, because it strikes at some very sensitive areas of life. The man fighting in Viet Nam is said to be greatly disillusioned with the demonstrations and draft card burnings against our Viet Nam actions.

Such should not be the case since that fighting man has the cause of honor and right on his side. Also, he and others should keep in mind the fact that for every draft card burned, millions are still in place and in the safe care and custody of responsible young people who will never think of burning them.

Disheartening To Troops

Administrative heads of government, who at first thought might do otherwise, should welcome the continuing interest promised in their affairs by the Legislature's Budget Committee. Committee Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings said that his group will meet twice monthly and hold numerous sessions with state officials. Some administrators may think that this is an effort on the part of the committee to administer the affairs of the state. It could be and the committee could take upon itself far more authority and responsibility than it is intended to have. This, however, is not necessarily the case and should not be assumed at the beginning.

The committee's objective should be simple—a better understanding of the details of state government, particularly the details of tax expenditures. Administrators should know that understanding is the key to appreciation. There can be no appreciation and thereby support of state administration unless and until it is thoroughly understood. The fact is that most of the difficulties encountered by administrators stem from the failure of people to understand the real problems involved.

An administrator who has a philosophy different than this is one who simply is attempting to put over something that lacks merit. If right is on his side, he should welcome the opportunity to so convince the important Budget Committee. That committee, in turn, has the clear obligation to understand its own role and not attempt to manipulate expenditures just to satisfy its own whim.

The Bible dwells on a great mystery, the mystery that makes a man differ from an animal, that gives him the feeling that this life and this earth is only the beginning. It actually relates man to the cosmic life, able to survive time and space. It is truly a great conception. Without it life would be a pointless thing, an eternal mockery. It is, as it should be, our most treasured writing.

And can only be judged properly that way. There are some of us who challenge it and find issues in detail. But man is not essentially humble nor very bright and frequently in attempting to judge the Bible, the judge is only judging his own incapacity. He argues over method and finds it hard to realize that a seeming error in explanation does not destroy the truth it seeks to explain.

Marines are doing more than dying for the cause of freedom in Viet Nam. They provide badly needed medical care for countless refugees and the derelicts of war. They individually share their food with the hungry, take care of lost and abandoned children, build roads, even help harvest the rice that is the difference between life and death for so many of the natives.

Marine Corps reservists throughout the U.S. (and a lot of other people) are now contributing to the Corps' Civil Action Fund, which operates out of Marine headquarters, Washington, D.C. Funds are turned over to CARE whose people in Viet Nam know exactly what is needed at what times in which areas. CARE has been on the job out there since 1954.

Donations to the fund, or to CARE, are tax deductible. The food, medicine, clothing, building materials, machines, equipment etc. etc. which will accrue from those contributions, will be parceled out in Viet Nam by the III Marine Amphibious Force. Far as we know

There was fear that the political events since 1960 would result in more friendship for the communist world and possibly even bring on a communist state. But the recent elections indicate that such eventualities are still far from the fact. The winning elements in the election are committed to follow the American line, and the Turkish people have indicated they like it that way.

Not One But Many Klan Organizations

WASHINGTON — In addition to the Klans already discussed in this column there are numerous others. Some of them are:

Knights of the Ku Klux Klan—This is sort of a family Klan headed by Imperial Wizard Jack William Brown of Chattanooga, Tenn., a 55-year-old iron welder. His son, Jack Leon Brown, is the Imperial Kligrapp, and a brother-in-law, Jesse Gross, is the Klabeer or treasurer of Klavern No. 1. A brother, Harry Leon Brown, is chairman of the Kickam Klan or board of supervisors for Klavern No. 1. Two other sons, Daniel Wayne and William Eugene Brown, are also active in the leadership. The Dixie Klan has a membership estimated at something over 100.

The Association of Arkansas Klans is a very small group of some 50 or so members headed by Will Williams of Pine Bluff, Ark.

The Mississippi Knights of the Ku Klux Klan is headed by Walter Anderson Bailey of Gulfport and doesn't have anywhere near the power of the White Knights of the KKK based at Laurel, Miss.

The Florida Ku Klux Klans used to be under Grand Dragon Bill Hendrix, who was once convicted by a federal court for sending defamatory information through the mails regarding me. Hendrix sued me for a million dollars but dropped the suit. He also dropped out of the Klan scene. Replacing him in power came Jason Kersey of New Smyrna Beach, Fla., head of the United Florida Klan, Knights of the KKK, who was affiliated with the United Klans. However, in the scramble for members and dues by various Klan organizations, the above Klan unit has given way to the Florida Knights of the Ku Klux Klan operated by Don Cochran of Jacksonville, who has pulled members away from other Klans until he now dominates northern Florida. In this area the Klan is both powerful and dangerous.

Significantly the Klan, once strong in Texas, is now almost non-existent in the President's home state. On the other hand, it has probably become more important in Louisiana than the once very strong White Citizens Councils. There are an estimated 17 klaverns in Louisiana, some of them extremely violent.

Officially the Klan does not condone violence. Imperial Wizard Bob Shelton and James Venable deny using it, yet in their speeches turn right around and make highly inflammatory statements.

Marines Head Action For Viet Nam Relief

NEW YORK — The Saturday Review is taking up a collection to rebuild a hamlet in South Viet Nam which was burned to the ground by U.S. Marines in retaliation for a single sniper's shot, according to the magazine.

It's a nice gesture as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough. It of course gives comfort to all who are opposed to U.S. military aid to this beleaguered ally in Southeast Asia. It fails to make clear certain other Marine activities in that land.

Marines are doing more than dying for the cause of freedom in Viet Nam. They provide badly needed medical care for countless refugees and the derelicts of war. They individually share their food with the hungry, take care of lost and abandoned children, build roads, even help harvest the rice that is the difference between life and death for so many of the natives.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: In the football season last fall my 11-year-old son injured his knee but continued to play with a slight limp. The swelling was near the surface in front, just below the kneecap, and when we finally noticed it, the doctor stopped his participation. From a layman's standpoint, it would be similar to "water on the knee." It appeared to be a bruise that contact aggravated each time he played. With hot compresses and no reinjury, it seems to have healed but he's already talking about the coming season. Three questions: Do you suggest that he play this year? Would additional padding such as a basketball knee guard help prevent this bruising? Are there any exercises that might be specifically prescribed to strengthen the knee? — JOHN K.

I'm in favor of sports, and exercises, for our young ones. But I'm also against taking chances with these children.

The knee is a joint that is particularly susceptible to injury if a sport involves bodily contact. Most youngsters escape such an injury. When the knee is hurt, I am thoroughly in favor of giving it all the time necessary for complete healing. If your boy is 13, or even an old veteran of 14, before he goes back to football, it's better than letting him develop a knee injury that will last all his life.

He doubtless had an effusion (accumulation of water) at the knee joint. Frequently, in such cases, there is also damage to the cartilage. Whether he can (or should) play this season is something that your doctor, or an orthopedic specialist, should decide. Is there any residual damage, or is the knee fully recovered? That's the question.

If I were you, I would let the specialist decide. I know how you feel. You don't want your boy to back away from a few hard bumps. Life is full of them. But if there is an injury which needs time before it can be fully cured, I'm sure you want him to wait for the necessary interval, no matter what.

A knee guard or elastic support may help protect against a direct blow. It will not do much if a heavy blow against the leg puts strain on the entire joint.

There are — and remember this — some authorities who oppose contact sports for youngsters of this age because the epiphyses (the soft, still-growing ends of bones near the joints) have not yet matured and hardened.

These soft areas are still subject to injury which might not occur later.

I'm not quite ready to oppose contact sports for the little fellows, but I think any limp or injury deserves special attention. This is not just a bruise. This is an inside injury.

In some cases special exercises can help protect the injured area, but it has to be prescribed specifically. The wrong exercise can ruin the knee.

I urge you, sir, in this case, to rely on your doctor's advice. If he says wait a year before more participation, don't argue. A year getting a knee back in good shape is far more valuable, in all ways, than getting an extra year of competition — and ruining a knee.

Dear Dr. Molner: I know a salesman who sells steel cookware. He claims that aluminum and the old-time black cast iron cookware ruin food cooked in them. I just want to know the facts. — T.D.F.

I don't know why this nonsensical story keeps bobbing up — or rather, I don't know why people let it worry them. There is no basis whatever for thinking that aluminum or cast iron pots and pans are harmful.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our 7-year-old grandson has frequent headaches. They come on when he is excited or has had a little rest at school. They are quite severe, over his ear, his temples, and down the back of his head. We are worried about him and wonder how long these will last and what they will turn into. — J.T.

They may not "turn in" anything, but perhaps disappear as he grows older and is less upset by tests or other problems of the big world around him.

Headaches are not very common in children, but since his seem to be associated with tension or excitement, the "tension headache" seems a likely probability.

Focal infection (tonsils or sinuses) should be considered. Allergy may also be a factor. If the headaches tend to be one-sided, there is a possibility of migraine, and this is often triggered by tension.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain the possible effects of a chest X-ray on a woman who is beginning her eighth month of pregnancy. — MRS. D.N.

No effects at all. The X-ray exposure is for only a fraction of a second, so brief that there is no deleterious radiation effect.

Note to Mrs. C. K.: Spurs of the heel are calcium deposits, not fluid. Injury or pressure are the usual causes. Padding inside the shoe heel often helps. In severe cases surgical removal is the answer.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his columns whenever possible. Copyright, 1965, Pub. Newspaper Synd.

Proud To Fight

Chu Lai, Viet Nam
In May, 1965, the Third Battalion, Seventh Marine Regiment left the United States. We did not know where we were actually going but we all had a good idea. We went to Okinawa for a short while, then we sailed around for quite awhile. Finally we got the word that we were going to Viet Nam.

We took part in the U.S.'s first offensive action against Viet Nam. We were in reserve in this operation. We soon heard things we had never heard before, such as "Stretcher-bearers, man your stations," and we found out what they meant. We saw men who were wounded and dying and those who had just cracked up.

We finally landed by helicopter and by sea-landing craft. Then we started seeing the other side, the enemy, and we saw them dead and alive. We had no hatred for the Viet Cong, until we began to learn what we were doing here and why. Then we were even proud to be in this fight. We knew what we were fighting for, so we will win.

We live in tents. I am in 81 mm mortars. We eat very well, considering the way we live.

Diet: Breakfast—eggs, bacon, coffee and one slice of bread. Dinner—soup, peas mostly. Supper—a decent meal, sometimes.

Climate: Rains 130 inches one week, dry the next.

Enemies: Mosquitoes, malaria, the Viet Cong and sand. Main job: Keeping all our gear in working order, especially our weapons.

Any of us here would give anything for a Pepsi, a bed to sleep in or even to hear a little music. Please hear what I say. Don't take your everyday life for granted. Be proud you live in the U.S.A.

Pacifists, we are asking you to tear down our situation by using your minds and think what would happen if we weren't here.

Firearms Purchase

Lincoln, Neb.
I have not been too wrapped up in the controversy over the purchase of firearms, but after reading the reprint from the Washington Post, which appeared on The Star's editorial page on October 16, I feel that we all should be concerned.

First, since you are the editor, I am sure this is reprinted with a tongue-in-cheek attitude. If not, I would like very much to have you explain the relationship of an irate woman with a revolver on her husband's night stand, and purchasing a firearm by any means.

Second, what do poisons and firearms have in common in this issue? Is the writer saying that sportsmen don't use poisons to kill game because they find it hard to get? Or is he saying that people wouldn't be killed in their bedrooms if they did not have bedrooms? I am confused.

If this example is to prove that she ran down to the corner gun shop and bought a gun in anger and then came home and shot her husband, it fails miserably. In essence, the narrative proves nothing.

Please tell me that the editorial was reprinted only as a space filler, as I find it difficult to believe it was reprinted without thought or reading.

D. H. LEACOCK
Editor's Note: The Washington Post editorial reprinted (Star, Oct. 16) intended to make the point that easy access to firearms constituted a threat in certain cases. In this case, a woman killed her husband. In another more celebrated case, a man named Oswald obtained his weapon by mail order and killed the President of the United States. The reprint was no accident.

Supply-Demand Balance In Grains 'Best In Years'

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

The balance between supply and demand of feed grains and wheat is the best it has been in 13 years, according to Robert S. Bergland, midwest area director of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Bergland in addressing more than 1,000 county committeemen, office employees and state ASCS staff, said Wednesday the success of farm programs now points to the day when the output of the American farmer will be needed to feed the world.

He complimented Nebraska ASCS personnel for "doing one of the outstanding jobs in the nation."

In his explanation of farm legislation just passed by Congress, Bergland said, "Never before has Congress provided a wheat program that provides parity of income for domestic used wheat."

Term Length Helps
Bergland heralded the four-year term for a feed grains and wheat program as another aid in administering farm legislation and a benefit to farmer planning.

He said that for the thousands of farms with a "crying need" for conservation work, plans were being considered that would provide more help to those who need it most in the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP). Bergland said more complete plans on the cropland adjustment program that will be designed to retire 40 million acres through five and ten year contracts would be announced by the USDA in about two weeks.

"We have had a tremendous amount of inquiry about the portion of this program that will authorize additional payments to farmers who permit their retired land to be used for hunting and fishing," said Bergland.

Center Proposed

Omaha (U)—A proposed federally financed center to help small businesses and people who would like to go into business for themselves was described in Omaha Wednesday.

The proposal calling for a budget of $100,000 to $150,000 annually has been worked out by a committee of 56 for presentation to the Greater Omaha Community Action Group Nov. 1. If it is endorsed the plan would be forwarded to the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington.

The center would help gather data to determine whether a new business or expansion is realistic, screen applicants for loans which would not require collateral and provide education and training.

Joe Williams, associate director of the Urban League, said the center is being patterned after a pilot project in Philadelphia.

District Abolished

Moscow (U)—The Republic of Kazakhstan has done away with the special virgin lands administrative district set up by Nikita Khrushchev, Moscow Radio reported.

of Agriculture, Farmers Home Administration, and Federal Crop Insurance Corporation activities was presented to ASCS personnel on the Wednesday program.

A workshop Thursday morning and a panel about program activity at the Washington level is planned for the second day activity.

Friday will find Congressman Clair Callan, Mrs. Mary Conger, Iola, Kan., and Ray Fitzgerald, deputy administrator of state and county ASCS operations, Washington, addressing the convention.

In the review of other agricultural agencies, ASCS workers were told that the loss paid by Federal Crop Insurance Corporation on the 1965 wheat crop was the largest since 1941, according to Edwin Finigan, state crop insurance director.

Paid Off Quickly

Art Von Bergen of the Farmers Home Administration said that while his agency will only make loans that can not be made by any other financial source, the average loan is paid off in 4.7 years and that of all loans made since 1947 the interest collected has been 40 times greater than the losses.

In regard to emergency loans made to farmers to cover disaster conditions, Von Bergen said these have been "repaid by 106%." He explained the high repayment comes from many of the loans being repaid before they are due.

Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen, substituting for Gov. Frank Morrison, said, "Nothing can impede the growth of Nebraska except the limit of our imagination."

Firemen Again Answer Alarm At NU Dormitory

By JOHN DeCAMP
Star Staff Writer

For the second straight night, firemen and a fleet of firetrucks raced to the University of Nebraska to answer a fire alarm Wednesday night.

Cause of the alarm was some waste paper on fire in a concrete trash bin at the Twin Towers Dormitory on about 17th and Vine.

The same thing trigged an automatic alarm Tuesday night at the newly constructed Abel Hall Dormitory north of 17th and Vine.

The alarms have been set off when male students—either accidentally or intentionally—start papers on fire in the trash chute.

Sprinklers Start

The heat from the burning papers turns on a sprinkler system inside the fireproof, concrete trash bin and sets off the alarm. The waste paper is always already extinguished by the sprinkler system when firemen arrive but firemen have to then clean up the mess made by the system.

Fire Chief Roscoe Benton recently expressed disgust at the continued problem of fire alarms—some of them false alarms deliberately set off by prankster students—at the Twin Towers.

Students at the dormitory have made a habit of lining up after they evacuate the building and cheering the firemen as they come running into the building with their fire hoses and equipment.

After a recent false alarm in which the entire dormitory was evacuated, Chancellor Clifford Hardin conferred with University police and Dormitory officials to get the problem corrected.

Burn-Ins?

Students at the dormitories have found the alarms to their liking in many instances because, as one student said, "they break up the monotony of the evening and give us a chance to get outside." Another student suggested that the alarms should be called "burn-ins."

But one fireman, clearly angered by the repeated alarms at the dormitory, said: "If these kids keep trying, they are going to get this great big playhouse burned down one of these days."

Firemen Avert Potentially Serious Hotel Lindell Fire

Firemen Wednesday night put out a fire at the Lindell Hotel, 13th and M, which could have turned into a "very bad fire" had it not been arrested within minutes.

Cause of the fire which started in a window on the first floor of the wood and plaster structure was not known.

Firemen received the alarm to go to the fire while they were returning to the fire station from an earlier alarm at the University of Nebraska Twin Towers dormitory.

The hotel is filled largely with older people. The alarm for the fire was sent in by an automatic fire detector system. "Without that detector system," Battalion Chief Wendell Malcolm said, "that fire could have gotten way out of hand before it was even detected."

"It is very fortunate that we were not still at the Twin Towers alarm when that hotel alarm came in, or there might have been some problems."

Army Officials Visit Grand Island

Grand Island (AP)—A group of top Pentagon officials visited the Cornhusker Ordnance Plant at Grand Island Wednesday.

The group was headed by Dr. Robert A. Brooks, assistant secretary of the Army for installation and logistics.

The visitors expressed pleasure at the speed with which the plant was being reactivated. It produced ammunition in both World War II and the Korean War.

Indian Temple Bells On Rocking Chair Cheer Old Man's Spirits

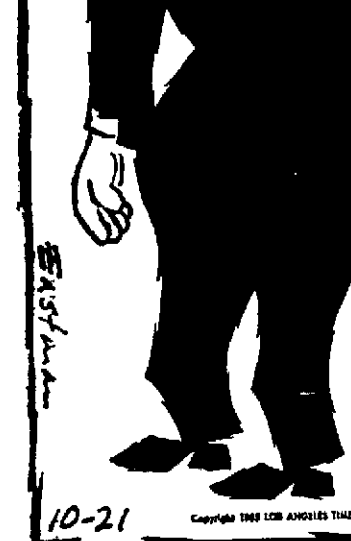

By ROBERT PETERSON

An old gentleman in his 80's invited me to call, so I popped by for a visit the other day. The first thing I noticed was his rocker on the back of which was affixed a string of small, brass temple bells from Indian. Each time he rocked the bells emitted a pleasant, satisfying tinkle.

He said the bells had converted an ordinary rocker into a seat of mystery and pleasure. He said the sound could transport him via imagination to distant cities, and to recollections of sounds heard in his youth. He said he'd had them for years, but that they never failed to enliven the atmosphere and cheer his spirits.

He asked how long I could stay, and I told him an hour or so. He asked if I had anything in particular I wanted to talk about. When I shook my head he said, "Well, so we won't waste time I'll get my book of favorite subjects."

He reached into a magazine rack and got a thick scrapbook which had several dozen tabs. "There are certain things that interest me most," he said, "and whenever I read some new fact or hear a witty remark on one of these subjects, I write it down and file it away."

Dante's Works To Be Topic At Conference

A conference on Dante's contributions to our civilization will be held Oct. 25-26 at the University of Nebraska Sheldon Art Gallery.

The conference, which will be open to college students, faculty members and the general public, is believed to be the first of this type conducted by an American university.

Nine scholars from leading universities across the nation will speak at the conference commemorating the 700th anniversary of the birth of Dante.

Registrations already have been received from Hastings College, Omaha University, Nebraska Wesleyan University and Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa.

Eight University of Nebraska departments will cooperate in the conference. Participating departments include history, Romance languages, philosophy, art, English, German languages, political science and classics.

The conference is made possible through the University Research Council and Dr. Walter Militzer dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Restaurants Thrive

New York (UPI) — The nation's 378,460 commercial restaurants feed about 60 million persons a week and buy about $5 billion worth of food a year to do it. Restaurants are the largest single retail group in the United States, according to a recent study of their size, composition and product consumption patterns by Audits & Surveys Inc. The study showed a significant share of the food used in restaurants is supplied by local and regional brands, rather than national brands, according to Solomon Dutka, president of the marketing research organization. This is opposite to the patterns found generally in the consumer market, he said.

"Let's see now," he said adjusting his spectacles, "maybe we could talk a little about horses. Do you know the average life span of a horse? Well, it's 18 years. But a world's record is held by a horse in England which lived to be 35. Funny thing. Horses never touch liquor but, at best, they only live half as long as humans. Do you ever go to horse races? All right, let's talk about some of the great races." Thus went his conversation at a sprightly pace for the next hour.

He proved to be one of the most interesting persons I've met in a long time, and he got me to wondering why more people don't develop a habit for systematic talk. Instead of dwelling on their health or the weather, or trying to recall half-forgotten details of things they've heard or read, they could likely make themselves much more stimulating to others if they specialized in certain subjects and then shared their assembled lore with friends and visitors.

Imaginative elders use assorted techniques to brighten daily routines. One is a system several shut-ins have told me they use to enhance their TV pleasure. One calls another by phone and suggests they watch a program together. They consult the TV listings and maybe decide to watch Danny Thomas. So they settle down before their television sets at the appointed hour, turn to the given channel, and view the program. Each derives not only individual pleasure, but also the delight of knowing his friend is watching and sharing chuckles at Danny's misadventures. Afterwards they get on the phone to exchange reactions.

This may be a trick worth trying if you're alone, housebound and yearn for a little companionship when watching the magic box.

Jerry Atrick wonders how many remember when "extras" were special newspaper editions, instead of a thousand dollars added to the price of a new car.

Private Schools To Check 'Manpower'

The Nebraska Council of Private Vocational Schools Wednesday authorized a steering committee to pursue on both the state and federal levels its participation in the federal government's Manpower Training Program.

An opinion from the state attorney general's office stated that it is unconstitutional to use private schools in the program.

The opinion stated that the State Department of Education, which administers the funds which finance job retraining programs, cannot use public funds to finance private institutions.

However, the Private Vocational Schools Council contends that private schools in other states are using the Manpower funds and Nebraska is losing a possible $10 million-a-year industry if the private schools cannot participate.

The council has concluded that the private schools must receive federal funds directly from the federal government in order to participate.

State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller has said the education department has complete faith in the ability of private schools to properly operate manpower programs, and the State Board of Education has pledged its cooperation.

According to George Abdouch, president of the council, and Wayne Wiegert, secretary, the private schools feel they can be of "real benefit and use in the program by providing faster and better ways for training people."

First Of Six New Murals To Be Installed At Capitol

The first of a series of six murals depicting the growth of Nebraska will be installed in the Capitol's great hall this week.

The 6,500 pound work of art is entitled "The Blizzard of '88."

Artist Miss Jeanne Reynal of New York City recently completed the mosaic mural.

Each Weighs 500 Pounds

Each of the 13 sections of the white, blue and black mural weighs about 500 pounds.

According to Fred N. Wells, chairman of the Capitol Murals Commission, the six murals will fill the six empty panels left by the late architect Bertram G. Goodhue when the Capitol was being constructed in the early 1930s.

Goodhue's original intent was to fill the vacant spots with murals depicting the state.

Miss Reynal's mural will occupy the north panel on the west wall. Two other murals are being completed for the Miller. Montreal, Canada, is finishing the "Building of the First Railroad," said Wells.

The three murals for the east wall are "U. S. Survey," "Tree Planting" and "Building the Capitol."

Dutch Krogman of the Cornhusker Tile Co., Lincoln, will install Miss Reynal's mural. He said he would probably start constructing scaffolds to lift the heavy sections Thursday or Friday.

State Will Gravel Part Of Road

The State Department of Roads has agreed to put one-half inch of gravel down on three miles of access road to Wagon Train Lake near Hickman to help alleviate the transportation problems of four farmers, who live along the road.

It was brought to the attention of Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday that the road was to have been hard-surfaced this fall, but that the contractor was given a time extension until next spring for completing the project, and the farmers would be "sitting in mud" where there previously was gravel.

Only three of the four and one-half miles involved in the project will be graveled by the state because that is all that was graveled prior to the road's being graded in preparation for the blacktopping.

Commissioner Ralph Harlan fired at a statement made Tuesday by State officials that the county is benefitting from the special Recreational Access Road funds in that it is getting more blacktopping and access road mileage out of the funds.

"This is not a gift," Harlan said, noting that $44,000 of the fund for this year came from Lancaster County.

The additional 50 cents charged for license plates and 30% of the added two-cent tax per package of cigarettes which went into effect this year is used for access roads to recreational areas.

NASON ON EDUCATION:

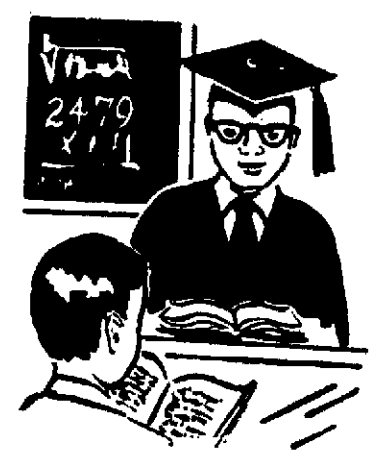

Majority Of Students Will Need Financial Assistance Before Finishing College

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON
Will you need financial help before you finish college? If not, you are a very fortunate person and in the minority. Few parents are in a position to pay the entire cost of college educations for their children. College is an exceedingly worthwhile investment and you should work out a tentative overall financial plan right at the beginning. Many colleges consider this so important that they have established College Financial Aid Offices to help you in your planning. Your personal savings, contributions of your parents, scholarship grants, income from part time work and college loans all come in for consideration. The amount you can earn through part time work while you are at college is difficult to predict in advance. Carrying the normal load of college subjects is a full time job that takes up a student's days and much of his evenings as well. Until you have demonstrated that you can carry a college load with time left over for work, you had better concentrate on studying. The few dollars you might earn in the first weeks of college could not possibly justify risking failure. Once you know that you can safely spend time in doing part time work you should still limit yourself carefully. The federal government in its subsidized Student Work Program sets a top limit of 15 hours per week. This program is making an increased number of jobs available to students in financial need. The government contributes $9 to each $1 contributed by the college. The college makes every effort to provide jobs in line with the student's major studies. More and more students are financing a portion of their college costs through loans. Almost all colleges make loans either from their own funds or from federal funds under the National Defense Student Loans program. Some colleges offer loans only to upperclassmen. But an increasing number offer them to freshmen as well. In this case an overall plan for financing usually is worked out so that family contributions can be supplemented by outright grants, student employment and loans. Colleges will often help you work out a full program for financing. However, borrowing to start college should be done only after careful consideration.

The largest single source of student loan funds was originally set up in 1958 by Congress as the National Defense Student Loan Program. It has been broadened by subsequent Congresses and further broadening is under consideration. Loans through this program are administered by the individual colleges. Apply directly to the colleges. You may borrow $1,000 per school year up to $5,000 for undergraduate work and $3,500 a year for graduate work. You will not be charged interest under this program until one year after you complete your college. Three percent interest per year on the unpaid balance will be charged, commencing one year after you cease to be a full time student. You have up to 10 years to pay off the loan's principal and interest. Allowance is made for completion of military service and should you become a public school teacher you may request that part of your loan be canceled. For each year you teach up to a maximum of five, during the 11-year repayment period, you may ask that 10% of your loan be canceled. These loans are applied for and arranged through participating colleges. You may wish to consider this as a part of your overall plan for financing college. To be eligible for a state loan you must be a resident of the state. Your sources of information for state loans are your high school guidance counselor, college financial aid officer or state superintendent of schools. The college of your choice may have a college loan program of its own. Consult the college financial aid officer. United Student Aid Funds, Inc., endorses loans made by students' hometown banks. It doesn't lend directly. To support its endorsement USIF maintains a reserve fund contributed by private philanthropists and deposited by colleges. Banks lend to students at six percent simple interest, a rate calculated to cover only costs. Students who borrow pay off the loans after graduation. Students under 21 need their parents' signature for approval, but not endorsement. Repayment is the obligation of the student. The loan is covered by life insurance on the student and USIF guarantees payment in case of default. New Wheats Win Show

Alliance — The new rust-resistant wheats developed by University of Nebraska breeders swept the top place at the 1965 Nebraska Wheat Show. Lancer took both grand championships and one reserve championship. Gage took the other reserve championship.

The wheats were developed, along with Scout, by Dr. John Schmidt and Dr. Virgil Johnson. Lancer is recommended for western Nebraska and Gage for eastern counties.

Owners of the winning samples are Wayne Ramig of Gering, grand champion in the market division; Harold Draper of Dalton, grand champion in the certified seed division; Lydia Ramig of Bayard, Lancer, reserve champion in the market division; Frank J. Papik of Dorchester, Gage, reserve champion in the certified seed division.

Cather Memorial Picked For Honor

Red Cloud — The Willa Cather Pioneer Memorial of Red Cloud has been selected for the award of merit from the American Association for State and Local History, Mildred Bennett, president of the memorial, said Wednesday.

The selection of the 10-year-old memorial for the award was made at the association's national meeting in Harrisburg, Penn.

The award is given "for the effective and meaningful way in which the Willa Cather Pioneer Memorial has presented the story of Willa Cather in her home surroundings," Mrs. Bennett said.

This spread is brand new.
It tastes exactly like peanut butter and bacon... but there's no bacon in it.

Until now, when you wanted a peanut butter and bacon sandwich you had to fry the bacon until it crisped, drain off the fat, blot up excess drippings with paper towels, crumble the bacon in a mixing bowl, and add a generous amount of Skippy® Peanut Butter. Then you got a large spoon and stirred until it was well mixed and reasonably easy to spread.

Skippy has changed all that. New Skippy Peanut Butter with Smoky Crisps has taken the work and the mess and the cleaning-up out of making a peanut butter and bacon sandwich.

New Skippy Peanut Butter with Smoky Crisps has all the crunch, crackle and old-fashioned smokehouse flavor of bacon. But instead of bacon, Skippy has created little crisps of vegetable protein with remarkably true bacon flavor. These, mixed with Skippy, make a tasty spread—perfect for snacks, canapes, and sandwiches, even on meatless days.

So, for all you people who like the taste of a bacon and Skippy sandwich, try them together in new Skippy Peanut Butter with Smoky Crisps.

Try some and Skippy will send you 50 cents in cash!

We're so sure you'll like the exciting taste of new Skippy Peanut Butter with Smoky Crisps that we'll send you 50 cents in cash for just buying a jar—any size!

Simply send the label from a jar of Skippy Peanut Butter with Smoky Crisps, and the coupon provided here to Skippy Smoky Crisps, Box 742, Brooklyn, New York 11202. By return mail, Skippy will send you 50 cents in cash.

This offer is limited to one cash return per family.

Dear Skippy:
Here's the label from my first jar of Skippy Peanut Butter with Smoky Crisps. The spread is so different and delicious, we'll be needing another jar very soon. So, better hurry and send me my 50 cents.

Hunting season seems to be here. I saw a couple of neighbors setting off the other day, armed to the teeth.

Not sure what they are after — is it ducks or deer, right now?

Anyway it's a noble thing. Nobly pumping $1.3 million into the national spending. For guns and bullets. Tents and camp stoves. On red caps and red shirts—so other hunters will not mistake them for a deer and blooie!

Well, I never got with this shooting war of fang and claw. But I was mighty interested to read the other day that there's talk of a fox hunting club around here.

Fox hunting came originally from England. Still does. It is not only noble, it is social as all get out.

That's the reason it comes up as an idea in our suburban community from time to time. It's usually brought up by slim ladies who look awfully good in riding pants. And other ladies, peeling off the calories, say: "Well, well. They would want to wear something like that!"

You can't beat fox hunting for pictures for the society pages. And if you could get color! With all those pink coats.

You have hounds and a hunt ball. All those things that make life really worthwhile.

There's one problem. We don't have foxes around here. Coyotes maybe. But you can't have a coyote hunt and get any space except in the comic strips.

But it seems foxes can be imported. They did this some place in Minnesota. It was a rousing success for everybody except the fox.

There's still a lot of fox hunting around England. And there is a League Against Cruel Sports whose members do everything they can to break it up.

League members follow the hunt. When the fox goes to earth—that is jumps in the fox hole—the member jumps in with him.

This is raising hob with fox hunting in England. But it's part of the British spirit.

If we are going to have fox hunting in our suburbs, I suppose we'd better organize a league to prevent it, too.

There's quite a bit in the etiquette books on fox hunting—something to keep in mind if you're organizing a hunt club in your suburbs.

"Riders should keep a sharp lookout for the hunted fox. A novice who views the fox takes off his hat and holds it straight out, with a straight arm pointing at the animal.

"A proper 'View Holloa' is better left to experts. He must be sure, however, that a member of the hunt staff has noticed the signal. He may be the only one to see the fox, and so be able greatly to improve the day's sport."

This seems simple enough. You need a horse, a pink coat, a straight arm and 20-20 vision. (Corrections acceptable, but it must be noted on your fox hunting license.)

You also need a cooperative fox.

With all these things, there's no reason we can't all have a hunt club. Hunting foxes in the stylish manner.

Versed in the etiquette of the hunt. So that we don't make any faux pas. For there's no faux pas worse than a faux pas at a fox hunt.

Committee Stand Unchanged On School Proposal

The State School District Reorganization Committee Wednesday refused to alter its stand on a school district reorganization plan in Gage, Saline and Jefferson counties.

The committee last month gave the plan "reluctant qualified approval" but called it a "reprehensible approach to creating a school district on the basis of a tax advantage."

The committee said the plan was better than "continued inaction."

Proponents of the consolidation proposal Wednesday asked the committee to approve some minor boundary adjustments in the proposal and to modify its language used in approving the plan.

The committee approved the boundary adjustments but refused to alter its stand while reiterating its belief that the Beatrice School District should be included in the reorganization proposal.

UP-Rock Island Merger Opposed At Meet Here

The proposed merger of the Union Pacific and Rock Island railroads was opposed here Wednesday by officials of the Missouri Pacific Railroad and, in part, by representatives of the Burlington Railroad.

Appearing before the Traffic and Transportation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, C. L. Butler, traffic consultant for the Missouri Pacific, asserted that the merger was not needed for the financial well being of the Rock Island and that if it went into effect it could result in serious losses to the competing prairie railroads and possible curtailment of rail service.

Butler objected especially to plans of the merger which would transfer Rock Island lines between Colorado and Lincoln and Omaha and St. Joseph and Kansas City.

Substantial Loss

"Inasmuch as both the Missouri Pacific and the Burlington now interchange thousands of cars of freight annually at Denver and Pueblo with the D&RG," Butler said, "this part of the merger would entail a substantial loss of income and service if the D&RG extended its own lines to the Missouri river."

"This would seriously hurt Lincoln which is presently served by the Missouri Pacific and the Burlington."

The D&RG is the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad.

Butler also objected to the merger plan that would sell Rock Island's southern lines to the Southern Pacific, calling it a case where the nation's two most powerful railroads would strengthen their position at the expense of the territory and the cities contained within it.

The Missouri Pacific serves 37 industries in Lincoln, and maintains a Nebraska payroll of $2.7 million annually for 408 employees, of which ten are residents of Lincoln aggregating an annual payroll of $70,559.

Supported In Part

The Missouri Pacific position was supported by the Burlington in part.

C. F. Larsen, freight traffic manager, lines west of the CB&Q said, "We have not completed all of our studies on the effect of the merger in its present outline and are not yet in a position to say what our whole position will be. But access of lines to the Missouri River by the D&RG, as outlined, would be detrimental to us and to Lincoln. It would also shift important rail service out of much of Nebraska into Kansas."

Neither the Burlington nor the Missouri Pacific asked Lincoln for an early decision, reminding that the first hearing on the proposed merger will not be held until March 7, 1966.

NU Architecture Students Push For Farm Museum

Thirty-two University of Nebraska senior architecture students presented their case for development of a Nebraska farm museum Wednesday.

The students, under the direction of Profs. Dale Gibbs and Robert Ginter, were asked to come up with ideas on the subject as part of their special designs course work.

The presentation was held at the Hall of Youth at the Nebraska Center under the auspices of the Joslyn Art Museum and the School of Architecture.

Interest Expressed

A special panel, made up largely of Omahans, expressed interest in the project. They said a proposal to build such a museum west of Omaha near Boys Town has been made by a number of Nebraskans.

In general, the students came up with two open-air concepts which they felt might have potential for telling the story of Nebraska farms.

Gibbs explained the ideas were developed in such a way that the Nebraska farm might be depicted in the social setting of its association with a hamlet, or in a life-cycle of crop planting, cultivation and harvest.

"The two concepts do not necessarily have to oppose one another. We simply wanted the students to study the problem, to take a position and then to come up with something creative," Gibbs said.

Gibbs said the open-air farm museum is an innovation in the United States, but has been used in Scandinavian countries for 50 years.

Pakistan Claims Indians Shooting Over Peace Line

Rawalpindi, Pakistan (AP) — Indian troops are shooting across the East Pakistan border for the first time since the U.N.-ordered cease-fire on Sept. 23, the Pakistan government claimed Wednesday.

An official Pakistan statement also accused India of cease-fire violations in Kashmir.

The statement said that in the Mehndi sector of Kashmir, 200 miles north of Rawalpindi, Indian troops "violated the cease-fire every day for the last week."

7-Year Salt-Wahoo Study Is Proposed

A proposed inter-agency hydrologic investigation of the Salt-Wahoo basin was outlined to the directors of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed District Wednesday.

The program—a 3-year-old idea—would stretch over seven years and cost about $500,000.

Costs would be shared by participating agencies, which could include the Salt-Wahoo district, U.S. Weather Bureau, U.S. Geological Survey (USGS), the Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and various state agencies.

Needed

Floyd LeFever of the USGS told a monthly meeting of the Salt-Wahoo board that the program is needed because of continued flood hazards and future development in the basin.

The program would include:

- A stream gauging program which would give detailed information on stream flow and other channel changes.
- A study of the effect of flood retarding structures on stream channels.
- A precipitation recording network.

—A reservoir evaporation and seepage study.

—Flood inundation mapping (such as is now being undertaken by the corps of engineers).

Directors were also informed that the corps has received permission to purchase 6,808 acres of land west of Raymond to build the Branched Oak dam and reservoir.

Norman Gau of the corps said construction would begin next spring.

Letters informing of acquisition plans have been mailed to 12 land owners in the Branched Oak area. Other land owners will be informed later.

NU Students Urged To Help Rights Project

University of Nebraska Students were asked Wednesday to donate to the Gulfport Miss., Project, a Civil Rights movement aimed at helping Negroes in that area gain the right to vote.

The appeal for funds was made in the second issue of "Called To Be Human," published by the Friends of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee at the University of Nebraska.

"Gulfport, Miss., is the scene of a civil rights project in which you, as Nebraska University Students, should be vitally interested," the publication said, adding, "several Nebraska alumni are involved with it and need your help so that they may assist the Negro population of that city in gaining, among other things, the right to vote."

The bulletin urged students to make donations at a booth in the Student Union.

Staff members listed in the mimeographed publication were Jo Ellen Williams, editor, and staff members John Drodow, Bob Laugen, Gale Pokorny, Don Schneider and Tish Voichahoske. Gene Pokorny was listed as president.

OPPD Workers Attend Seminar

The Omaha Public Power District brought some 60 division and department heads to Lincoln for a supervisory training seminar, planned to further develop and implement leadership abilities, identify problems and develop methods to involve members of the organization in identifying and reaching common goals.

Dr. Arnold Schneider, dean of the School of Business, Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, Mich., and Dr. Arthur B. Ward, head of the University of Nebraska department of conferences, led the sessions.

Bookstrom's Low On 3 City Projects

The H. R. Bookstrom Co. of Lincoln bid on three city projects Wednesday, one a large sanitary sewer construction, and the other two low bidders on each.

The Bookstrom bid on the proposed Beals sanitary sewer trunk line from 27th to 40th was $153,385. Also bidding were Dobson Bros. Construction Co. at $158,709 and N. L. Cole Construction Co., $167,630.

On a water district in Ballard Ave., 72nd to 73rd, Bookstrom bid $2,408, compared with $2,553 by Dobson Bros. and $2,675 by Cole.

Bookstrom bid $1,622 on a sewer district in A St., Talbot Trail to 300 feet east, followed by Dobson Bros., $1,787, and Cole, $1,852.

The apparent low bidder for the arterial relighting of No. 56th, O to Fremont, was Energy Enterprises, Inc., at $12,750. Other bidders were ABC Electric, $13,320, and Commonwealth Electric, $15,300.

Hoffa Tapped Teamster Fund To Pay Lawyers

Washington (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa tapped the union's treasury for $570,396 to pay his lawyers in three criminal trials in the past three years, the Labor Department said Wednesday.

"That's only the top of the iceberg," said Seymour Spelman, attorney for a group of anti-Hoffa Teamsters suing for restitution of the funds.

Spelman claimed the total is probably closer to $1 million for Hoffa's numerous criminal cases since 1959.

The Labor Department said the Teamsters' money was spent for Hoffa's legal fees in his 1962 kickback conspiracy case in Nashville, Tenn., his 1964 jury tampering trial in Chattanooga, Tenn., and his Chicago trial the same year for defrauding the Teamsters' pension fund.

Nashville Mistrial

The Nashville kickback case ended in a mistrial, but Hoffa was later convicted of tampering with the jury and sentenced to eight years in prison. He was sentenced to another five years in his Chicago fraud conviction. He also was fined $10,000 in each case.

Hoffa is appealing the two convictions. His first appeal in the jury tampering case, is due in the Supreme Court by Dec. 6.

Cars, Trucks Required To Prevent Pollution

Washington (AP) — President Johnson signed a clear air bill Wednesday that includes authority to require future automobiles and diesel trucks to be equipped to prevent polluting exhaust gases.

"We can no longer allow this problem to go unchecked," the President said.

The secretary of health, education and welfare is empowered to prescribe the pollution control regulations.

"The air that is the very essence of life has become a carrier for disease and early death," Johnson said, noting "from our automobiles alone, enough carbon monoxide is discharged daily to adversely pollute the combined areas of Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey."

The President said the bill will require all 1968 model automobiles — including foreign models sold here — to meet federal control standards for exhaust.

The regulations are expected to require installation of devices on exhausts or changes in engine design. California already has put such controls into effect for 1966 models — the first state to do so.

The legislation also authorizes appropriations of $96,480,000 over the next four years for research into methods for controlling air pollution caused by cars and trucks and for the disposal of garbage and refuse to cause the least air pollution.

In addition, the new law permits a neighboring foreign country to seek abatement of pollution emanating from the United States if it gives this country reciprocal rights.

New York (AP) — A boomerang counter-wave built up Wednesday to the demonstrations against U.S. military operations in Viet Nam. Protesters spiraled against the protesters.

Both sides were rallying followers to dramatize their sentiments.

From college campuses — the same quarters from which some of the attacks came on U.S. military action — came some of the resurgent defense for it.

At Yale University, a group of students distributed pamphlets, calling for a mass rally Thursday to demonstrate backing for America's course in Viet Nam.

Claiming that most students disapprove the anti-administration demonstrations the group included various student leaders.

SDS Heads Urge Draft Alternative

Washington (AP) — Students for a Democratic Society, leaders in recent student demonstrations against the war in Viet Nam, called Wednesday for draft age youngsters to be given the alternative of some form of public service, such as the Peace Corps.

Until this proposal is agreed to, said SDS National Secretary Paul Booth, "we have only one choice. We do in conscience object, utterly and wholeheartedly, to this war; and we will encourage every member of our generation to object, and to file his objection through the Form 150 provided by the law for the conscientious objector."

Top Marine Challenges Protesters

Washington (AP) — The nation's top Marine Wednesday challenged those who demonstrate against U.S. policy in Viet Nam to "prove their sincerity" by volunteering for civilian humanitarian programs in Southeast Asia.

"Let them prove themselves as good samaritans by crossing the road to lift up their brothers, to tend the sick, to feed the hungry, to clothe the naked, to shelter the homeless," said Gen. Wallace M. Green Jr., the Marine Corps commandant.

"Let them do this first, rather than pass by on the other side of the street, with a placard on their shoulder, a song on their lips, and hypocrisy in their hearts."

Green discussed the recent wave of demonstrations — "the modern version of youthful protests," he called them — in a speech prepared for the Defense Supply Association's national convention.

Describing the demonstrations as "this ranting and this raving," Greene said:

"This youthful action is to be expected, and while it must be kept within bounds, it also must be endured, whether we like it or not."

Top California Solons Threaten Berkeley Campus

Sacramento, Calif. (AP) — The two top leaders of the legislature threatened Wednesday a legislative crackdown on the University of California if the Berkeley campus continues to be what Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh termed "a staging area, a fountainhead" for anti-Viet Nam demonstrations.

Unruh and senate President Pro Tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, said one legislative committee is probing the campus anti-Viet Nam movement and another may take on the job.

At Michigan State University a group of students, headed by William Webb, a Detroit junior, started a campaign for 15,000 student signatures on a petition supporting President Johnson.

At Temple University in Philadelphia, Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity, voted unanimously for a "mail call Viet Nam" project — to make sure each of the 140,000 fighting men there get Christmas cards.

Numerous other organizations and public figures entered the skirmish, challenging the protest demonstrations.

Former president Dwight D. Eisenhower called them "silly and based on ignorance, without knowledge of the continuing threat of communism to this country."

In Providence, R.I., Gov. John H. Chafee said students have a right to demonstrate peacefully against American involvement in Viet Nam, but he deplored the suggestions for draft-evasion and blocking troop trains.

The governor, a Marine veteran of World War II, remarked about draft-card burners:

"I'd like to have those guys in my rifle company."

Pope Possibly Bolstered Peking's Path To U.N.

By RALPH TEATSORTH
United Nations, N.Y. (UPI)—In his speech to the United Nations, Pope Paul VI may have done more than he intended to strengthen the cause for seating Communist China in the world organization.

He pleaded for universality of the organization in his unprecedented speech to the General Assembly Oct. 4.

His words had strong effect. They were studied carefully, quoted in assembly speeches, and given the weight of spiritual authority in an essentially political issue.

The Pope did not mention Communist China by name.

Since Red China is the principal country—and one of the very few—still outside the organization, his remarks had to be applied to the Communist regime in Peking.

Starting with that, the Pope's true meaning is a matter of varied interpretation in the absence of an authoritative explanation from the Vatican.

Pope Paul suggested that the United Nations is a reflection in temporal matters of what the Roman Catholic Church aspires to be in religion — "unique and universal."

"Your vocation is to make brothers not only of some, but of all peoples," he said.

"... Strive to bring back among you any who have left you and seek a means of bringing into your pact of brotherhood, in honor and loyalty, those who do not yet share in it."

The pontiff undoubtedly is aware that many countries hold Red China's behavior to be incompatible with international brotherhood. He likewise understands that to seat one China and expel another China contributes nothing, numerically at least, to universality.

Delegates of Catholic countries in Latin America, in particular, paid close attention to the Pope's appeal.

The Latin Americans, with the exception of postrevolutionary Cuba, have always supported Nationalist China unanimously in the United Nations and are expected to do so this year.

But there is among them an undercurrent of feeling among some that it is unrealistic to bar the world's biggest state from the United Nations. Pope Paul endowed this viewpoint with respectability.

Cigarettes To Cost At Least 29 Cents

Nebraska smokers will pay at least 29 cents a pack for regular cigarettes and 30 cents for kingsize beginning Nov. 18.

State Tax Commissioner George Dworak said Wednesday wholesalers and retailers have been advised of the minimum prices and other details of the state's unfair cigarette sales act passed by the 1965 Legislature.

Under LB849, wholesalers must add 4% for overhead to their merchandise cost while retailers must mark up at least 8%.

Dworak said the minimum retail price on cartons will be $2.87 regular and $2.91 kingsize. Wholesale cost is $2.65 on regular delivered and $2.63 if picked up by the retailer.

Dworak said the legislation, supported by the industry, is aimed at stopping use of cigarettes as a "loss leader" in promoting other sales.

The commissioner said no additional staff will be hired to enforce the new law.

"We'll use our regular border patrol personnel and audit representatives," he said. "We anticipate the act will be virtually self-enforcing with the help of the industry." Violation of the unfair sales act can result in suspension or loss of a tobacco retailer's or wholesaler's license.

Detailed Communications Net Cost Figures Expected Soon

The State Government Communications Committee anticipates more detailed cost information by Nov. 15 on a proposed state-wide microwave communications system for all state departments and agencies.

Col. Donald Penterman, chairman of the committee appointed by Gov. Frank Morrison, said Wednesday that more detailed cost comparisons have been requested from the radio engineering consultant, John Heffelfinger of Kansas City, Mo.

Development of the "main line" system over a 10-year period is estimated at $3 million, Penterman said. "The state is presently spending $1 million annually for communications."

Penterman said the microwave system would provide "better service for daily as well as emergency communications and could transmit in various modes, ranging from voice to facsimile to television to data processing information."

He indicated the feasibility study for the consolidated communications system was favorable, but the committee felt additional cost comparisons should be obtained.

One Filipino Dies In Plane Crash

Manila (AP) — A domestic airliner carrying 38 persons crashed Wednesday, killing one passenger and injuring all others aboard, plus five persons on the ground.

Philippine Air Lines, which owned the twin engine DC3, said five Philippine air force personnel in a nearby barracks were hit by flying steel fragments from the plane. Another airman was injured while helping in rescue operations.

The plane crashed after takeoff from Manila Airport on a flight to Legaspi, a city in southern Luzon. All on the plane were Filipinos.

Saunders County School Consolidation Plan Approved

The State School District Reorganization Committee Wednesday approved a sweeping Saunders County school consolidation plan involving 35 districts.

The committee expressed "the highest of accolades for three years of citizen efforts" to develop the plan.

The proposal, which would create a district with an enrollment of 2,043 students and valuation of more than $28 million covering about two thirds of the county, will go before voters later this year.

Thirty rural elementary school districts, three high school districts at Mead, Yutan and Cedar Bluffs and the Wahoo district would be consolidated.

Rural districts involved are 11, 12, 16, 20, 23, 25, 26, 27, 36, 42, 43, 44, 48, 50, 55, 60, 61, 62, 65, 70, 71, 75, 82, 87, 91, 102, 105, 109, 117 and 119.

Nine elementary attendance centers would be located in the districts, with junior high school students attending classes in the present Wahoo High School building. The plan included construction of a centralized high school north of Wahoo.

The state committee recommended that pupils living in the fringe areas near Fremont and Ashland be permitted to affiliate with those districts.

should the new district receive voter approval.

The committee also gave approval to the following districts:

Democrats Exhorted

Washington (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey exhorted Democratic Party workers to buck the tide of history and to work for Democratic gains in the 1966 elections.

strict reorganization proposals, by county:

Cuming—Detach a portion of District 14 to District 1 at West Point.

Cass-Oriskany—Detach District 83 and attach territory to Districts 1 at Palmyra and 85 at Elmwood.

Cedar-Pierce-Wayne—Detach District 70 in Cedar County and attach territory to District 45 in all three counties.

Arthur—Detach the Arthur County high school district and form a district by consolidating Districts 1, 4, 7, 8, 9, 12, 27, 32, 33 and 35.

Sherman-Butte—Detach Districts 39, 40, 42, 70, 92, 106 and 107 in Butte and Districts 30, 36, 37 and 7 in Sherman and attach all territory to District 64 at Ravenna.

The committee gave qualified approval to the following proposals:

Cuming—Detach District 70 and attach territory to Districts 20 and 80.

Otoe-Lancaster—Detach District 151 and attach territory to District 1 at Palmyra.

The committee rejected the following proposals:

Greeley-Howard—Detach a portion of District 1 at St. Paul and attach territory to District 43 at Volbach.

Hickory—Detach District 5 and attach territory to Districts 42 and 4.

Custer—Detach Districts 136 and 63 and create a new district.

Richardson-Nemaha—Detach Districts 92 at Stratton, 76 at Stella, 102 at Shubert, 36 at Yamaha and 22 to create a new district.

Two Klansmen Warned

Washington (AP)—Ku Klux Klan witnesses who refused to answer questions about finances were warned Wednesday of two kinds of possible trouble: congressional contempt citations and federal tax action.

The House Un-American Activities Committee had scores of questions about the flow and ultimate destination of Klan dues, donations collected at rallies and profits from the sale of $15 satin robes.

But the answers by Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and James Robert Jones of Salisbury, N.C., described by the committee as a grab bag for his state, were a steady repetition of claims for Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., cautioned both men that their refusal to comply with subpoenas for production of Klan records might make them liable for contempt citations.

Chief investigator Donald T. Appell put into the record information he said showed purchase by Jones of 3,757 yards of acetate satin and smaller quantities of other goods. Appell said a Klan robe takes about five yards of satin—at 69 cents a yard less 10 percent discount—and sells for $15.

The best information the committee has, he said, is that the profits after whatever was paid to make up the robes for sale in North Carolina went to Jones.

Another series of questions Jones refused to answer related to a suggestion that Klan funds were deposited in a personal bank account of Jones and his wife.

$18,000 Reported

Appell said that Shelton had reported Klan income of about $18,000 from all sources in fiscal 1965. But, Appell said, if Shelton had reported only the money made in Jones' North Carolina realm, he should have reported $32,845. And that, Appell said, did not count the money coming in from other states.

Shelton, in two days on the stand, told the committee nothing but his name, his birthplace—Tuscaloosa, Ala.—and his age—36.

Temporarily excused as a witness, Shelton described the investigation as an attempt "to curry political favor with a group that has flouted the law all over the country."

His statement, read to newsmen outside the hearing room, apparently referred to Negroes. He said the Klan would "find out who are the true manipulators behind this investigation."

Curious

The committee was curious as to whether he obtained a hardship discharge from the Air Force during the Korean War to help out in a family grocery store, but promptly went to work for a tire company.

There were questions about cash checks drawn on the account of the Alabama Rescue Service, which Willis called a "phony front outfit" for the United Klans of America, the biggest of the various Klan federations and the one Shelton heads.

The committee asked also about radio equipment—citizens' band receivers and transmitters, licensed for business purposes, and other gear that seemed to be capable of monitoring police calls.

After the session, Shelton showed newsmen a certificate of honorable discharge from the Air Force.

SHIP NAMED

A Navy escort ship under construction has been named "Roark" for Navy Lt. William Marshall Roark of Omaha who died in an air combat mission over Viet Nam in April.

2nd Baptist OKs $50,530 Expenditures

Members of the Second Baptist Church approved a budget of $50,530 — with an increase in the world mission fund — at Wednesday night's annual meeting.

Election of officers was also included at the meeting.

Elected were: church clerk, Mrs. Harold Smith; financial secretary, Gerald Norton; Sunday school superintendent, Henry Kohl.

Board of Deacons: Walter Wood, Leon Rutts, Harold Sampson, Richard Johnson, Harvey Nash.

Board of Deaconesses: Mrs. Paul Fitzwater, Mrs. Ted Hartung, Mrs. Norman Monroe.

Other business included a review of the recent improvements made by the church, such as the parking facilities.

Special Interstate Warning Signs Set

Special signs will be installed on all of the Interstate Highway's exit ramps that will be visible only to the driver erroneously entering instead of exiting.

Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen Wednesday announced that the Department of Roads has agreed to additional signing on all exit ramps in further effort to prevent drivers from traveling the wrong way on exit ramps.

Six people have now been killed in three separate accidents," Sorensen said, noting that two were killed and three injured earlier this week.

'Go Back'

Safety Engineer Robert Meyer said half of the exit ramps, mainly in the rural areas, are posted with a sign saying: "Stop. You are on an exit ramp—go back to the cross road."

Meyer said the sign can be read only by the driver traveling the wrong way.

"Because of the high degree of channelization in the Omaha area, a driver must do something grossly wrong to get on an exit ramp," he said, "but they do it and the additional signing may help."

Also being considered by Meyer is a 24-foot long, 12-inch wide arrow on the paving to denote direction of travel on exit ramps.

Increasing Problem

Meyer said wrong-way driving on exit ramps is increasing as a problem nationally as more freeways are completed.

"I'm dismayed we have the problem here, but it is far less than in most states," he added.

Sorensen said the state is doing all it can with engineering and law enforcement to reduce accidents, "but a successful safety program exists in the attitude of the driving public."

He urged drivers to recognize that freeways demand new driving skills and alertness to new dangers.

Sorensen said Gov. Frank Morrison, currently in Europe with a trade mission, concurred in the action being taken.

Central Missionary, Alliance Church Pledges $17,000 Fund

More than $17,000 was pledged to the missionary fund at the annual business meeting of the Central Missionary and Alliance Church Wednesday night.

It was noted at the meeting that last year's pledge of $18,000 was over paid $1,400 by members.

New officers elected to the Executive Church board were secretary, Charles Anson; treasurer, Melvin Brown; financial secretary, Derril Schmidt; missionary treasurer, Charles Kline, elders, David Stavland, John Helzer, Gail Ingwersen, John Treanor; deacons, Albert Mance, Arsinio Lewis, Winfield Mumma, Dr. S. T. Thurstein, Douglas Alfred.

Elected Sunday school superintendent was Wallace Gake and his assistant David Stovland.

Elected deaconesses were: Mrs. Elmer

Work On Clay Center Beef Station To Begin In 2 Weeks

Acting Gov. Philip Sorensen Wednesday reported preliminary work will begin within two weeks on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's beef research station at Clay Center.

Sorensen, who was advised of the timetable by Department of Agriculture officials, said the initial work will include land preparation, securing of equipment, fencing and construction of some roads and temporary corrals for livestock.

"There will be a limited number of persons assigned to begin the project," Sorensen said.

Final congressional approval of a $500,000 appropriation for final plans and preliminary work on the station is expected soon.

More than $3.5 million in buildings and equipment will be located at the station, which will ultimately assume the research work now being conducted at the Fort Robinson station in northwest Nebraska.

Youth Corps Helps Indian Cave Park

Indian Cave State Park in Southeastern Nebraska isn't officially opened yet, but that day was hastened along by a Neighborhood Youth Corps project last summer.

Paul Husted, State Game Commission superintendent of operations and maintenance, said Wednesday that 76 youths and six supervisors cleared two picnic areas and fence and road lines in the park.

"The Youth Corps force was used in those areas that couldn't be reached by heavy equipment so that work done represented hand labor," he said.

Fence Removed

He said 4.5 miles of old fence was removed, 1.5 miles of new fencing built and brush and timber cleared back 20 feet on each side of 15 miles of roadway and for a 18-foot width on 5.5 miles of fence.

The project was estimated to cost $62,000 with $52,000 representing federal funds. The local cost was supervision and materials. It was designed to provide summer employment for school-age youths.

Husted said two picnic areas were cleared, both "with a view cleared right down to the Missouri River." They are three and 2.5 acres in size.

The park currently consists of 1,000 acres, but another 1,000 to 1,500 acres is being acquired, Husted said. The park is located on the banks of the Missouri River between Falls City and Auburn.

Although not officially open, the park attracts quite a few sight-seers and some campers when roads are accessible, according to Husted.

for luncheon or supper

Here is good food that is inexpensive, free of waste, and needs no preparation before or after cooking—no paring before-hand or peeling while hot, no cutting up. Cooking time is short and care-free. The grains absorb the flavor of the dressing and, being small, spread its goodness throughout the salad uniformly and generously. And rice extends more expensive ingredients to make a larger number of servings.

In the case of Hot Chicken Salad Supreme, for example, two cups of cooked chicken, plus the rice and other salad ingredients, wind up as eight servings of a salad that deserves to be reserved for family festivities and guest occasions. Salad is a complete main dish, offering as it does two vegetables (celery, rice) in addition to the chicken, Nutmeats and crisp cereal furnish the interesting texture contrast that makes the dish festive; dill pickles and cheese supply out-of-the-ordinary flavor. Broiled peach halves and bread sticks or toasted crackers round out Hot Chicken Salad Supreme as an easy-to-serve, easy-to-enjoy main course for luncheon or a supper.

This recipe calls for two cups of cooked rice, which really isn't very much to cook if you're starting from scratch and not from leftovers. Cook enough rice to supply the two cups for the salad, but cook it as part of a larger batch so that you can have cooked rice ready for instant use in other recipes during the week. Cooled, cooked rice, covered, keeps beautifully in the refrigerator for several days.

HOT CHICKEN SALAD SUPREME

- 2 cups cooked diced chicken
 - 2 cups diced celery
 - 2 cups cooked rice
 - 1/4 cup chopped dill pickles
 - 1/4 cup chopped nutmeats
 - 1/4 cup grated onion
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 cup mayonnaise
 - 1 cup grated cheddar cheese
 - 1 cup crushed rice cereal
- Combine all ingredients except cheese and cereal. Turn into a 2-quart casserole. Mix cheese and cereal. Sprinkle over top of salad. Bake at 350 degrees 30 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

The Final Touch

There is nothing like a pudding to put the finishing touches on a good dinner. The family will enjoy this one — as will any guests you may have. Try it.

COCONUT BREAD PUDDING

- 1 quart milk
 - 2 eggs
 - 1/2 to 1 cup sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 2 teaspoons vanilla
 - 1/4 cup melted butter (1/2 stick)
 - 2 to 3 cups day-old bread cubes (about 1/2 inch)
 - 1/2 cup coconut
- Scauld milk. Beat eggs slightly, combine with sugar, salt, vanilla and butter. Measure bread cubes into buttered 1 1/2-quart baking dish.

Each To His Own Coffee Cake

For a pre-game brunch—or for brunch or breakfast any time, serve these delicious individual coffee cakes. The recipe makes 18 of them, so it won't be too much of a task if you are planning on guests.

INDIVIDUAL COFFEE CAKES

- 1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 1/4 cups sugar
 - 2 eggs
 - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1/3 cup milk
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/3 cup chopped nuts
- Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream 1/2 cup butter. Add 1 cup sugar and cream well. Add eggs and vanilla; beat until fluffy. Add dry ingredients, as small amount at a time, to creamed mixture alternately with milk, blending well after each addition. Line 18 ungreased muffin pans with paper baking cups. Spoon an equal amount of batter into baking cups. Mix together remaining 1/4 cup sugar, cinnamon and nuts. Sprinkle an equal amount atop each cake. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, until done, 18 to 20 minutes. Makes 18 cakes.

pour custard mixture over top and allow to stand about 5 minutes then stir gently. Sprinkle coconut over top. Set in a shallow pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 40 to 45 minutes, or until a knife inserted halfway between the edge of the baking dish and the center comes out clean. Remove from the oven, cool, then chill. Serve with cream, slightly sweetened whipped cream, ice cream, lemon or any other desired sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Individual molds (custard cups) require 20 to 25 minutes baking time.

Ham Loaves Are Special When Orange-Glazed

Let autumn and the last fall season arrive, and we're all ready to entertain again. For a good family meal or when company's coming, plan to serve individual orange-glazed ham loaves. They're delicious party food when garnished with orange slices and watercress. Serve with squares of hot cornbread made from a speedy mix, a simple salad and vegetable and a suitable dessert for the occasion.

Orange-glazed ham loaves can be made from leftover baked ham, if desired. It's a regal way to finish off an elegant baked ham. The individual loaves are king-size, big enough to serve two or just right served whole to hearty eaters. The aromatic spices and interesting glaze

- complement the fine ham flavor making the loaves truly good eating.
- ### INDIVIDUAL ORANGE-GLAZED HAM LOAVES
- 1 pound ground ham (leftover baked ham, if desired)
 - 1 pound ground pork
 - 3/4 cup fine corn flake crumbs
 - 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
 - 2 eggs
 - 1/4 cup milk
 - 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 - 1/8 teaspoon ground cloves
 - 1/2 cup orange marmalade

Combine ingredients except marmalade; mix well. Divide meat mixture into 6 equal portions. Shape each into an individual loaf. Arrange loaves on a greased shallow baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Lightly brush top and sides of loaves with marmalade. Return to oven to finish baking, about 20 minutes. Brush tops and sides of loaves with remaining marmalade. Return to oven to heat marmalade 3 to 5 minutes. Yield: 6 loaves, 2x2x4 inches.

Mothers Club

A demonstration on holiday crafts highlighted the Tuesday afternoon program of the Pershing School Mothers Club. The 150 members attending also were entertained by a skit given by third graders. Mothers of fifth graders were hostesses for the social hour.

THE TALK

is about a mad and merry weekend

It's a great, big, wonderful weekend that is peering from around the corner. Today is the day the 'flying Tiger' plane comes in with its load of Nebraska alumni who now call California 'home'. We had hoped to have a list of those who are making the trip—but someone fell down on the job. Anyway, at 3 o'clock this afternoon we'll find out—That is the arrival time.

But we are not without other names of other guests—We learned, for instance, that Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Sichel, III, will be arriving from Palo Alto, Calif., on Friday, and that they are to be the house guests of Mr. Sichel's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor for the game weekend, and through next week. Just in case your memory needs refreshing—during her coed years on the Nebraska campus Mrs. Sichel was Karen Garling.

On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will compliment the visitors when they entertain at their home.

There are to be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Olson, also. Arriving from Montclair, Calif., in time for Saturday's game will be Mrs. Olson's daughter, Jean Dana Sinclair, and completing the family circle on Saturday will be Mrs. Olson's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Dana and their family, of Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Olson will be a dinner host and hostess at their home to compliment their guests.

On Friday's arrivals list will be Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Keyes of Idaho Falls, Idaho, who are to be the house guests of Mrs. Keyes' mother, Mrs. Fenton B. Fleming. Mr. and Mrs. Keyes will participate in the Homecoming festivities during the weekend, of course, but they also plan to spend next week in Lincoln.

When the visitors return to Idaho Falls they will be accompanied by Mrs. Fleming who also will go on to Seattle, Wash., with her son-in-law and daughter. Mr. Keyes is associated with the Atomic Energy Commission and the trip to Seattle—for him—will be one of several weeks duration—and strictly business. Mrs. Fleming and Mrs. Keyes, however, will devote their time to visiting Mr. and Mrs. Keyes' son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Fenton Keyes who is a member of the University of Washington faculty.

Mrs. Fleming will return home late in November, but Mr. and Mrs. Keyes still will be traveling. In December they will be off to South America—and will concentrate on Peru where their daughter, Miss Marilyn Keyes, a recent graduate of the University of Nebraska, is serving with the Peace Corps in the Andes Mountain area.

And more guests—We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Roger Rankin of Ogallala plan to spend the weekend in Lincoln as the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart.

Someone just told us that Evelle Younger of Los Angeles, Calif., arrives this afternoon to spend the game weekend in Lincoln and Omaha. Mr. Younger, a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law in 1940 (and a member of Alpha Tau Omega) now is the Los Angeles County district attorney.

On Friday a group of Mr. Younger's friends—including some former classmates—and a judge or two, will entertain Mr. Younger at luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club. On Friday evening he will go to Omaha to attend the 25th reunion of his law class—And, of course—the game on Saturday.

Then we heard that there are to be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wendelin during the weekend. The group will include Mrs. Wendelin's sister, Mrs. Charles Yungblut—and her son, Steve, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Sparks and their son, Grant, all of Scottsbluff; and Mrs. Wendelin's nephew, Bernard Waddick. Mrs. Waddick and their daughter, Gerry, of Limon, Colo. The high spot of the weekend, naturally, is the game on Saturday.

There are to be some out-of-towners at the Monday Night Club dinner dance on Saturday evening—The guest list, up to now, includes Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stewart of San Marino, Calif.; Mrs. John Sullivan of Braintree, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Christensen of Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis LaMaster of Houston, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kosman of Lincoln.

Home just yesterday from the east coast were Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Roehl who were on the campus at Bradford Junior College—where their daughter, Miss Eleanor Roehl, is a freshman—for the Parents Weekend. En route home Mr. and Mrs. Roehl stopped off in Chicago for a brief visit with Dean and Mrs. George Howerton (Arlouise Trester).

Dean Howerton, in case you didn't know, is director of the department of music at Northwestern University.

NEWS

of the suburban areas

It is amazing what the recent decrease in temperature is doing to the residents of Park Manor. From a look at this morning's news we can see that the slightly brisk temperatures are setting everyone in motion.

Some have been stung by the hunting bug—and for the victims, it will be off to the country to traipse across some farmer's field, and while searching for a flock of birds the transistor radio, near-at-hand, shouts out the progress of the Nebraska-Colorado football game.

PARK MANOR

Hunting is just what Donald Starkey has in mind for this weekend. On Friday Mr. and Mrs. Starkey and their daughters, Sandi and Sherri, will head for Albion for a visit with Mr. Starkey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Starkey. After a look at the hunting possibilities in that area Friday and Saturday, the four Park Manor residents will continue their excursion as they move on to Tilden and a visit with Mrs. Starkey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wagner. The four will return to Lincoln on Monday possibly in time to prepare a simple dinner—such as pheasant under glass.

We are not too sure if Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kirk went out hunting for guests, but if they did we can tell you that they were successful. The guest book includes the names of Mr. Kirk's three sisters, one whom arrived last week, and two who made their Lincoln arrival on Tuesday of this week. Mrs. Delma Moorehouse was the first to sign the guestbook and will be the first to depart as she heads for her home in Long Beach, Calif., on Sunday. Mrs. W. M. Gibbons of Odessa, Tex., and Mrs. Myrtle Neal of Atlantic, Iowa were the Tuesday arrivals and each plans to extend their visit another week.

Just back from a short stay in Hays, Kan., is Mrs. Clarence Dennis. Mrs. Dennis spent several days visiting friends.

ABBY

ask your father and no one else

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who has read your column for years but I never thought I'd be writing a "Dear Abby" letter. Well here's what happened, and I can't ask anyone else.

While looking for a box of Halloween decorations, I came across a box of letters hidden away back on the store-room shelf. The letters were written by my father and had been sent to my mother before they were married. I know it was wrong to read them, but I did anyway. Abby, I was knocked for a loop!

I found out my father was married and divorced before he married my mother. As near as I can figure it out, he must have been very young because he was 25 when he and mother were married. I would like to know if my father had any children from his first wife; because if I have a half-sister or brother somewhere, I think I ought to know. Also, I wonder why they got divorced, how long they were married, what his first was like and where she is living now, if she's still alive. I just have to know these things, Abby. I don't dare ask my mother or father or I'd be punished for reading the letters. Should I ask one of my relatives?

DYING TO KNOW
DEAR DYING: Ask your father (privately), but no one else. And limit your questions to the possibility of other children. The other details do not concern you, and I'm sure your father would like to forget them.

DEAR ABBY: Three weeks ago my sister, her three children and husband came to stay with me. I don't know for how long because the husband is without work. I am divorced and have a small house. I work swing shift and am usually up quite late. After my sister goes to bed, her husband pushes my bedroom door open and asks if he can come in and talk. Abby, I have nothing to say to him and besides, I don't like the way he looks at me. I put a hook on my door, so now he raps. He is making a nervous wreck of me. I hate to tell my sister, but I sure wish she would leave and take her husband and kids with her. He's not looking for work too hard because he's getting unemployment compensation. What should I do?

SCARED
DEAR SCARED: It's not necessary to tell your sister anything except that she should dig her spurs into that husband of hers and see to it that he looks for work. And tell HIM that if he doesn't stay away from your door, you'll tell your sister. Between you and me, your house isn't big enough for you and your sister's family.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SAID GOODBYE WITH NO REGRETS": Congratulations on having seen the light and ending the affair. Now destroy his letters. Carrying them in your purse for "safe-keeping" is foolish. Should you be hit by a bus, if you live, you'll be a dead duck.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

District Meeting

Miss Mary Nichols of Johnson, president of District I of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, has announced plans for the 62nd annual convention of the district to be held Thursday, Oct. 28, at Plattsmouth. The all-day meeting will open at 10 o'clock, and program speakers will include Mrs. Walter R. Kirchhefer of Sutton, state president; Miss Ruth Ebmeier of Laurel, first vice president; and Mrs. Paul Ehlers, Alliance, state directors of juniors. Dr. Otto G. Hoiberg of the University of Nebraska extension division will address the delegates on the topic, "Community Planning—A Must," and banquet speaker will be State Senator Calista Cooper Hughes of Humboldt.

Current district officers are Mrs. Fred Naber, Syracuse, first vice president; Mrs. Arthur Oestmann, Auburn, second vice president; Mrs. Harley McCord, Lincoln, third vice president; Mrs. Kenneth McDonnell, Greenwood, secretary; Mrs. Alvin Finke, Syracuse, treasurer; and Mrs. Harold Bruggman, Douglas, director of juniors.

LIVE and LEARN

A modern inventor has discovered a way to use the yearly output of more than 120 million pounds of peach pits. Before this invention this poundage was buried, loaded on barges and dumped into the ocean. They even tried feeding them to animals, and pulverizing them to clean sewage systems. This range of methods worked, but there were almost always more peach pits. One manufacturer in California took on the problem and decided that they would make good charcoal briquets. Today his plant converts about 500 tons of pits into charcoal each day. Come next summer, you'll know the flavor that goes into that rare steak.

Another inventor has created the answer to dripping-wet towels in the bathroom. For a cozier winter, try installing an electrically heated towel rack. It dries wet towels in minutes and also warms dry ones to a toasty temperature.

Some of Mother's worries will vanish with this next creation. Manufacturers are now producing the newest safety bottle cap. The tamperproof cap will lessen the danger of children opening aspirin, sleeping pill, or poison bottles. This tricky device consists of an inner cap and a free-turning cap with a "key" that must be used to open the bottle. To open, you twist the outer cap until the slots in the two caps are aligned. Then you press the key into the slot to unscrew the cap. It may keep that small sized genius out of danger, and it also may keep Mother out of the aspirin bottle—if she can't remember how it works.

Another handy hint to the homemaker is a simple technique for washing hand mirrors. Remember how you used to take so much care not to let water seep under the glass? Now you must still be careful, but the method is quite easy. Just rub over the mirror with a sudsy cloth, wipe with a clean, wet cloth, and polish until dry.

Replacing a wick in a cigarette lighter can be quite troublesome. When performing this task rub one end with soap to make it easy to push through the wick holder. Once the wick is in place, clip off the soaped end.

New in the market of dolls is Baby Boo. This 21 baby doll cries over a variety of things—when she's hungry, sleepy, cold, or just plain lonely. Baby Boo displays her magical qualities best when she is sleepy. For instance, when the light is turned off, she stops crying. Turn the lights on again, and her tears begin to stream down her cheeks. If she's cold, covering her with a warm blanket will restore a quiet bedroom. And of course if Baby Boo is lonely, cuddling her will quiet her right away.

In case you are having problems scrubbing the dingy mortar around the bathtub, there is a solution. Scrub the tiled area with hot suds, using a small brush. Rinse, then apply a diluted solution of chlorine bleach (¼ cup bleach to 1 cup water) and repeat this in order to keep the mortar wet for five minutes. Rinse and wipe dry.

Prenuptial Courtesies

Honored guest at a pre-nuptial courtesy last Sunday was Miss Connie Breitfelder, whose marriage to A. L. Wayne Gonyea of the Lincoln Air Force Base, will take place on Saturday, Oct. 23. The bride-elect was presented a miscellaneous shower at a party given by Miss Susan Hanlon, Miss Diane Aksamit and Miss Jan Sweet, all feminine members of Miss Breitfelder's bridal party.

On Sunday, Oct. 10, the soon-to-be bride was honored at a courtesy for which Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Charles Lohmeier and Mrs. Alf Beals were co-hostesses. The guests included friends of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Vincent Breitfelder, and during the party, a canned goods shower was presented to the honoree. Also entertaining for Miss Breitfelder recently were Miss Susan Lukkason and Miss Dolores Cihal who were hostesses at a linen shower held at the home of Miss Lukkason on Wednesday evening, Oct. 6.

The wedding of Miss Breitfelder and Mr. Gonyea will take place at a 10:30 o'clock morning service, to be solemnized at St. Mary's Church. The bridegroom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gonyea of Claremont, N.H.

Opening lead—eight of diamonds.

This hand occurred in a team match. At the first table the bidding went as shown and West led a diamond. East took the eight with the ace. South falsecarding with the jack.

Despite the falsecard, East was able to read the lead as a singleton and returned a diamond—which West ruffed. West could not now make any lead that would defeat the contract. Actually, he led a club, and South had no trouble making four after forcing out the ace of hearts. Dummy's diamonds took care of the theoretical spade loser.

At the second table the contract and the opening lead were the same. East took the ace of diamonds also, but here came a parting of the ways.

East realized that if declarer had both missing aces as well as the king of hearts—they were all cards which South was likely to have on the bidding—the contract could not be defeated by giving West an immediate diamond ruff. This line of defense would lead to only three tricks.

East knew also that South had four hearts—he had bid the suit secondarily—and that West therefore had two hearts. There was consequently no urgency about returning a diamond for West to ruff, since this could be done just as effectively later on.

Accordingly, at trick two, East returned a spade, hoping to find West with the king (possibly the ace). South had no choice but to finesse, and, when he did, West took the king and returned a spade.

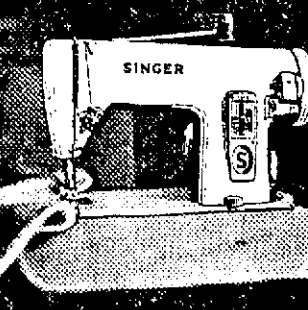

Declarer won the spade and played a trump, which East took with the ace. East's longdelayed diamond return now defeated the contract one trick.

What stands out in the hand is that it is simply not enough for a defender to analyze partner's lead as a singleton and spontaneously return the suit. The hand first has to be viewed in its entirety before following the impulse to return the suit. In bridge you can't afford to play now and think later.

Second CPPD Boiler At Hallam Approved

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Power Review Board Wednesday approved Consumers Public Power District's application to construct a second boiler at its Hallam plant.

The $6.9 million project will also permit Consumers to modify its first turbine generator so as to increase capacity from 85,000 kilowatts to 105,000 KW.

The board's decision was unanimous.

No Opponents

No protests were filed opposing the application.

Waivers were received from Platte Valley Public

Power and Irrigation District, Omaha Public Power District and the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative.

Loup River Public Power District filed a pleading asking the board to "carefully consider the ultimate costs of the final ratepayer and not the personal interest of any supplier."

Loup's pleading said the nuclear reactor at Hallam has turned into "a $67 million debacle," and that CPPD's application for a second boiler to permit use of both generators at Hallam has placed the board in a "strait jacket."

Consumers is now constructing a second turbine generator, with a capacity of 115,000 KW, which will be ready for use next year.

Second Boiler Needed

However, as long as the nuclear reactor is out of service, a second boiler will be needed to make use of both generators. The reactor has been shut down for 13 months due to leakage problems within its core.

CPPD Operations Director Don Schaufelberger of Columbus told the board that the new project will be financed, in part, with the $5.2 million reimbursed to Consumers by AEC for construction costs associated with the reactor.

The additional $1.7 million in costs will be financed from earnings, bonds or additional reimbursements from the AEC, Schaufelberger said.

The second boiler can be operational in May 1968, he said, and Consumers is ready to award bids at its Nov. 9 board meeting.

The boiler already in place will operate the new and larger generator when the latter goes on the line. Meanwhile, the smaller generator will be taken from service and modified for operation with the new boiler.

School Bus Drivers Urged To Follow 'Stop Light' Law

The executive council of the Nebraska School Bus Drivers Association has warned that the misuse of school bus stop lights directed by law must be eliminated.

Buses traveling with the stop lights turned on continuously are guilty of "an intolerable violation of traffic safety," the council declared.

Drivers following this practice operate under the "mistaken assumption" that it protects the safety of the bus and its passengers, according to Paul Bender of Wilber, executive secretary of the association.

At issue is the signal stop lamp located on the rear of the bus, which, according to statute, is to be operated manually by the driver.

According to the law, the lamp is to be illuminated for a distance of not less than 500 feet nor more than 1,000 feet in advance of the point at which the bus is to stop.

Some drivers leave the lamps on all the time, Bender said, misleading other traffic following the buses and creating a safety hazard.

School bus manufacturers have refused to install the lamps prior to delivery because they believe the vehicles are "in proper condition for safe operation on the highways" with their brake warning lights, Bender said.

Unless misuse of the lamps is terminated, the council stated, it will seek penalties in order to secure enforcement of the law.

Kashmir Crowds Claim Police Do Mosque Damage

Srinagar, Kashmir (AP)—Slogan-shouting crowds carrying black flags clashed Wednesday with police at two points in this summer capital of Kashmir, resulting in injuries to both sides and arrest of 11 demonstrators.

A demonstrator spokesman said they were protesting alleged police damage to the Hazratbal Mosque Monday.

The Kashmir government said no policeman entered the mosque and that damage was caused by crowds throwing stones.

Morrison Trying To Interest German In LAFB

Hamburg, Germany — such Nebraska products as grain feed. A tour leader of a Nebraska trade delegation said Wednesday Gov. Frank B. Morrison is trying to interest a German aircraft manufacturer in the facilities at Lincoln Air Force Base.

Bruce Johnson of Omaha said in an interview that the Governor had not received any definite response, but the manufacturer "was interested enough to want to find out more about it."

The base is soon to be abandoned by the Air Force and its facilities would be suitable for the manufacture of executive-type aircraft, Johnson said.

Checking Markets

The governor and other members of the nine-member group also have been acquainting themselves with German agriculture to determine what markets were available for Johnson said there is "a good possibility that something will be done" in West Germany for Nebraska's feed supplement business. He did not elaborate.

Another possibility for Nebraska's agricultural industry, he said, is the West German meat-packing industry's need for live cattle.

Substantial West German imports of live cattle come from Great Britain and other areas, he said.

Thus far, Johnson said, "the Governor seems to be very happy" with the results of the tour.

Asked whether the delegation had any firm commitments, Johnson responded:

"The real benefits will come six months, a year, or two years later. We are here just more or less to find out information and develop contacts. It gives us something to go home with an education for the people as to what opportunities exist."

Rivers-Harbors Bill OKd, Includes Little Nemaha Money

Washington (UPI) — The House put final congressional approval Wednesday on a $2 billion rivers and harbors bill designed to fight floods, end droughts, clear river channels and rebuild storm-damaged beaches.

(The AP reported the bill includes $1,524,000 for the Little Nemaha River in Nebraska.)

As finally passed and sent to the White House, the big catch-all authorization bill included the controversial $227 million St. John River project in Maine. A combination of conservatives and coal state members, with the help of most of the New England delegation outside Maine, teamed up in a final, unsuccessful effort to knock this out of the bill.

221 To 139

The roll call vote on final approval of the big authorization bill was 221 to 139.

In effect, this amounted to a vote on the St. John River project. Had it gone the other way, opponents of the St. John project would have offered a motion to send the bill back to conference with instructions to strike out this provision.

More than 140 water and power projects in 41 states were authorized. Among them were the Trinity River project in Texas, designed to make a port of inland Fort Worth, and the long-sought Burns Ditch harbor on the shores of Lake Michigan.

Lakeshore—a long-sought development.

The Senate already has voted for this.

Climax

The final House test on the Maine power project, planned for the so-called Dickey and Lincoln School sites on the St. John River, climaxed the bill's long, involved progress through Congress. A number of the projects were hard fought on one side of the Capitol or the other.

In the end, the measure included projects affecting 240 of the 435 congressional districts—a factor that not only helped assure its final passage but played a part in reversing an earlier House decision against inclusion of the Dickey-Lincoln project.

The House in passing the bill originally knocked this out on a 207-185 vote after 20 out of 25 New Englanders from states other than Maine lined up against it.

House-Senate conferees put it back, and it was on this final compromise version that Wednesday's House test took place.

Meet Jenos's

The first double-size pizza mix with real pepperoni sausage slices

You get more than twice as much pizza than with any leading pizza mix at way less than twice the price! And what pizza! Only Jenos's gives you real Italian pepperoni slices in their tangy sauce. Only Jenos's has the crispy, tender pizza crust that takes 15 minutes to rise to the occasion. If you've tried frozen pizzas and mixes with ready-made dough, you know that those

"quickie crusts" just don't make it. A Jenos's crust is properly leavened with active yeast and given a chance to rise. And, it rises above any other pizza crust you've ever tasted. Try a pepperoni sausage with tasty pepperoni slices, or a cheese pizza tonight. But invite some friends. Jenos's double-size mix makes two giant size pizzas, enough to serve 10 generously.

U.S. Policy Is Backed By Students

The U.S. position in Viet Nam received strong support Wednesday from speakers and participants in the second weekly Hyde Park open discussion session at the University of Nebraska.

A number of speakers took the podium to endorse U. S. policy, and they were roundly applauded by the student audience.

Objectors appeared to compose a decided minority of the participants, who numbered about two hundred.

Dominated Discussion
Viet Nam dominated the discussion forum sponsored by the Nebraska Union's Talks and Topics Committee.

Also discussed, and condemned, was the alleged presence of FBI agents at the Viet Nam teach-in Sunday evening sponsored by the Students for a Democratic Society.

Among other topics raised at the discussion were the John Birch Society and political philosophy.

Nationalization
One student suggested nationalization of U.S. railroads.

Another took the microphone to repeat time and again "ooo-ga-la, ooo-ga-la," but his efforts to persuade other students to join him failed.

3 Pen Inmates Get Freedom; Five Paroled

The State Parole Board Wednesday discharged three Penitentiary inmates, paroled five inmates and commuted the sentences to two others to detainees in neighboring states.

Discharged were Donald L. Feeney, 19, of Mankato, Minn., and Marino S. Salazar, 44, and Julio L. Lopez, 40, both of Houston, Tex.

Feeney received a one-to-two year sentence for auto theft in Otoe County on Nov. 27 of last year, and the two Texas men were sentenced to three years each on grand larceny convictions April 10 of last year.

The board released Edwin A. Ritchey, 40, of Des Moines, Iowa, to an Iowa detainer where he is wanted for prison escape, and Edwin Peterson, 25, of Sioux City, Iowa, to a Colorado detainer for bad checks.

Ritchey was serving an eight year term for a Nov. 27, 1961, Douglas County burglary conviction, and Peterson was sentenced to a one-to-three year term for burglary in Douglas County on Oct. 15 of last year.

Inmates who received paroles, with name, age, home, crime, county in which crime committed, length of term and date sentenced, included:

Kenneth L. Housh, 30, Omaha; breaking and entering; Dixon, 35 years; April 18, 1963.
Mike Freeman, 22, Omaha; breaking and entering (two counts); Dodge, 2-4 years; Sept. 17, 1963.
Raymond Brown, 35, York; robbery; Douglas; 7 years; May 7, 1962.
Duane Johnston, 29, Omaha; no account checks; Douglas; 2 years; Aug. 18, 1964.
Henry Swick, 42, Pine Ridge, S.D.; attempt to escape custody and assault on inmate to do great bodily injury; Sheridan; 2 and 3 years, served concurrently; May 22, 1964.

City Personnel Department Hires New Technician

Jim Clark, 25, of 1551 So. 29th, has been hired as a technician for the city personnel department.

Provisions for the personnel technician job category were included in the 1965-66 city budget. Clark will receive $462 per month.

Clark is a 1963 graduate of the University of Nebraska from York. He is married and has one child.

Personnel Director Walter Mitchell said Clark would assist him with a complete "in depth" review of job classifications and other work which hasn't been done "because of lack of staff."

SOLUTIONS TO YOUR EVERYDAY WASHDAY STAIN PROBLEMS

Every housewife is confronted with those hard to remove stains such as grease, blood, grass etc. Now, CUT OUT and HANG this remarkable STAIN REMOVAL CHART in your laundry or utility room and use it as a reference. There will hardly be a day when you'll not refer to this chart. This STAIN REMOVAL CHART will show you solutions and procedures for removal of 20 of the most common household stains . . . PLUS informative information HOW TO PROPERLY CLEAN AND RESTORE ORIGINAL WHITENESS AND BRIGHTNESS TO SYNTHETIC FABRICS, HOW TO RENEW WATER SOFTENERS AND REMOVE RUST FROM HOT WATER HEATERS AND PIPES WITH NO TOOLS NECESSARY.

MIRACLE WHITE Stain Removal Chart For Washables

TYPE OF STAIN	TREATMENT
BLOOD	Add 1/4 cup MIRACLE WHITE to cold water, soak stain, then wash in warm water. For old stains, add 1 1/2 cups table salt to 2 cups water.
CHEWING GUM	Harden gum by rubbing with ice. Scrape as much as possible. Sponge with Energine or Carbona. Rinse and launder.
CHOCOLATE	Add 2 tablespoons MIRACLE WHITE to warm suds, dip cloth up and down, and soak well. Bleach any remaining spot with hydrogen peroxide, rinse well.
COFFEE-TEA	Pour boiling water on stain, add MIRACLE WHITE to hot water and wash. For stubborn stains, bleach with hydrogen peroxide, rinse well.
CREAM, ICE CREAM, AND MILK	Sponge or soak in cold water. Rub a solution of MIRACLE WHITE and detergent into spot and launder. Sponge any grease spot with Energine or Carbona. If coloring remains, bleach according to type of fabric.
CRAYON	Loosen stain with kitchen shortening. Apply solution of MIRACLE WHITE and detergent on stain, work on it until stain is removed. Repeat if necessary. If stain persists, use type bleach recommended for fabric.
DEODORANT AND PERSPIRATION	Rub a solution of MIRACLE WHITE and detergent into stain and wash. If stain remains, use proper bleach according to fabric. Some anti-perspirant require a sponging with an equal quantity of ammonia and water. Rinse and launder.
DYE	Removing from colored items are almost impossible. Bleach colorfast items immediately, repeat as often as necessary. On white cottons, use color remover according to directions.
FRUIT STAINS	Pour boiling water over stain, over and over again. If stain remains, use hydrogen peroxide or lemon juice. Sponge well.
GRASS	Add 1/4 cup MIRACLE WHITE to warm suds, soak well, then rub or put thru washer. Bleach stubborn stains with hydrogen peroxide, rinse well.
GREASE	Pour MIRACLE WHITE over stains, let soak 1/2 hour, put into washer in regular way.
GRIMY OR GREASY OVERALLS OR CLOTHES	Add 1/2 cup MIRACLE WHITE to washer, let articles soak 1/2 hour. Add detergent and put thru wash cycle.
INK-BALL POINT	Rub white vaseline into stain. Rub Energine or Carbona into stain. Soak in a solution of MIRACLE WHITE and detergent and launder. If garment permits, bleach.
IODINE	Remove stain with sodium thiosulfate crystals (purchase at drug store). Rinse and launder in solution of MIRACLE WHITE and detergent.
MEAT, JUICE AND EGG	If dried scrape off excess gently. Sponge with cold water. Rub a solution of MIRACLE WHITE and detergent into stain, then launder, using a bleach designed for fabric. On wool or wash & wears, sponge with cold water, then Energine or Carbona. Rinse and launder.
MILDEW	Pretreat with a solution of MIRACLE WHITE and detergent and launder. If stain persists, sponge with hydrogen peroxide. Launder with a safe bleach.
PAINT	Scrape off fresh paint, add MIRACLE WHITE to warm suds, let soak. For dry paint, first soften with lard, oil or vaseline, then sponge with turpentine or banana oil, wash in warm suds with 1/4 cup MIRACLE WHITE.
RUST (due to well water)	Add 1/2 cup or more MIRACLE WHITE to wash water, let soak for one hour or longer, add detergent and put thru wash cycle. Do NOT use chlorine type bleach in rust water.
SOFT DRINKS	Sponge spot with cold water as soon as possible. Some stains are invisible when dry, but turn yellow with heat or age. These cannot be removed.

SOLUTIONS TO YOUR HOUSEHOLD PROBLEMS
AUTOMOBILE UPHOLSTERY AND FURNITURE UPHOLSTERY	Add 1/2 cup MIRACLE WHITE to 1/2 pail of warm water, add 1/4 cup of dishwashing detergent. Soak sponge in water, squeeze dry, sponge upholstery and/or plastic covers.
BOBBY SOCKS	Add 1/2 cup MIRACLE WHITE to laundry wash water, soak socks for 1/2 hour, add detergent and put thru regular wash.
RUGS AND CARPETS	Same as upholstery.
YELLOWED AND STAINED DIAPERS	Soak diapers for 1 hour or more in pail with a solution of 1/2 cup MIRACLE WHITE, 1/2 cup of dry non-chlorine type bleach or ammonia, 1/4 cup detergent. After soaking, pour entire contents into washing machine. Run through entire cycle.
TO RESTORE WHITENESS AND BRIGHTNESS TO SYNTHETICS AND FIBRE GLASS ITEMS (White and Colored)	Soak garments for 1 hour in solution of 1/2 cup MIRACLE WHITE to 2 gallons water. Place solution and garments into washer without detergent. Run through complete cycle. Repeat if necessary.
REPAIR REMOVE BABY'S FORMER AND MOTHER'S STAINS	Rub stained area with household rubbing alcohol. Soak for 1 hour in solution of 1/2 cup MIRACLE WHITE to 2 gallons water. Rub powdered scouring cleanser into stain. Pour solution and garments into washing machine with detergent. Run through complete cycle.
FOR WHITE-COLORED SYNTHETIC UNIFORMS AND FOR NURSE, DOCTOR, WAITRESS, COSMETICIAN, BARBER UNIFORMS	Soak garments for 1 hour in solution of 1/2 cup MIRACLE WHITE to 2 gallons water. Place solution and garments into washer without detergent. Run through complete cycle. Repeat if necessary.
DRAPERIES, SYNTHETIC AND FIBRE GLASS	Same procedure as washing synthetic garments above.
SWEATERS, WOOL, SYNTHETICS FABRICS (White & Colored)	Recommend wash by hand. Use 2 oz. MIRACLE WHITE to 1 gallon water. Squeeze water through sweater. Rinse in fresh water. Black on dry towel. (Caution: Do not hang or drape over warm or hot radiator.)
LINEN, TABLECLOTHS AND NAPKINS (White and Colored)	FOR WHITE MATERIAL: Soak for 1 hour or more in a solution 1/2 cup MIRACLE WHITE, 1/2 cup liquid bleach, 1/2 cup detergent to 2 gallons of water. FOR COLORED MATERIAL: Substitute a powdered non-chlorine type bleach. After soaking, pour entire contents into washing machine. Run through complete cycle.
DIRTY AND GRIMY WORK CLOTHES	WHITE WORK CLOTHES: Soak 1 hour or more in solution of 1/2 cup MIRACLE WHITE, 1/2 cup liquid bleach, 1/2 cup detergent. COLORED WORK CLOTHES: Substitute a dry non-chlorine type bleach or ammonia for the liquid bleach. Pour entire contents into washer. Run through the complete cycle.
REMOVAL OF LIME SCALE FROM TEA KETTLES, POTS, AND STEAM IRONS	STEAM IRONS: Pour solution of 4 oz. MIRACLE WHITE and 4 oz. tap water directly into empty iron. Let stand overnight. In morning turn on for 30 minutes. Turn off. Let cool. Drain and fill with fresh water. Repeat once per month. TEA KETTLES, POTS & PANS: Pour 1 to 3 cups MIRACLE WHITE directly into pot. Then fill with water. Let stand overnight. Pour out solution and wash scale away.
SAFELY REMOVE LIME SCALE, RUST FROM SINKS AND TUBS	Pour MIRACLE WHITE DIRECTLY on clean cloth. Lay cloth upon stained area overnight. Wash stain away. Will not harm sink or tub.
RENEW WATER SOFTENERS (No tools necessary) Makes Water Softeners Work Like New Again	MIRACLE WHITE cleans and removes rust and debris from all filters and water softeners, quickly, safely. MIRACLE WHITE is harmless and safe for septic. FOR MANUAL SOFTENERS & FILTERS: Pour 1/2 gallon (2 quarts) into mineral tank. Run cold water for 3 or 4 minutes. After a few hours, back wash. To keep unit in top operation, add 1 cup MIRACLE WHITE to salt with each regeneration. FOR AUTOMATICS: Pour 1 to 2 quarts MIRACLE WHITE into well that contains float, inside brine tank. FOR PRESSURE BRINE: Add 1/2 gallon to pressure brine tank. Always add 1 quart MIRACLE WHITE when filling tank with salt.
REMOVE RUST FROM HEATERS AND WATER PIPES (No tools necessary)	Rust, scale and debris can be removed from water heaters and pipes safely, without tools, resulting in cleaner and hotter water. FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE DIRECTIONS: Pour 1 to 2 bottles MIRACLE WHITE into an open sauce pan. Shut off main water valve, put bucket under heater drain and open drain cock. Put sauce pan containing MIRACLE WHITE under upstairs sink or bathroom faucet, turn ON hot water lever. Vacuum will draw solution into heater. After solution is drawn in, close lever, close heater drain cock, open main water valve. Let stand a few hours or OVERNIGHT. Drain heater. In severe cases repeat in a week or two. TO CLEAN WATER PIPES: Follow above. After solution is in heater, open each hot water tap in the house one at a time till water feels slippery. Close each tap and let stand overnight. Then open each tap, let water run till it is cold. In severe cases repeat in a week or two.

"WINNINGEST" COACH - By Alan Mauer

Buff's Defense Should Be Stern Test For NU

... THEIR RECORD HAS TO BE IMPRESSIVE

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Colorado's defensive record was stressed Wednesday by Nebraska coach Bob Devaney as evidence the Buffs will provide a stern Homecoming test for the Huskers Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

"Their record defensively has to be impressive," Devaney explained. "They are second in the conference in rushing defense and also second in total defense."

Statistically, the Buffs rank behind Nebraska in both categories. Nebraska has given up 71.8 yards rushing per game while Colorado has allowed 75.2.

The Huskers have permitted 170.6 yards per contest in total offense to 182.8 by the Buffs. Colorado also ranks directly behind Nebraska in passing defense with the Huskers in second, allowing 98.8 and the Buffs 107.6.

"Colorado has been stingy about letting people run or pass against them," Devaney emphasized. "We allowed Kansas State about 72 yards rushing and Colorado held them to minus yardage rushing."

"On the basis of that comparison, they would appear to be about as good as we are."

The Iowa State comparisons were immediately tossed into Devaney's lap as a contrast to the Kansas State comparison and he handled the problem without even juggling the ball.

"Iowa State made some mistakes against us because of their youngsters that they didn't make against Colorado," he answered. "They have had two games since they played us and they probably aren't making those same mistakes again."

And turning to offense, Devaney noted that Colorado has proven that it can score. "They scored 36 against Kansas State and 34 against Oklahoma State," Devaney pointed out. "So they proved in those two games that they are capable of scoring."

"There is no doubt that this is the best team we have faced this season," he concluded.

Two Nebraska defensive players are still regarded as doubtful starters against Colorado, but both linebacker Mike Kennedy and end Langston Coleman will see some action.

"Whether we start them or not will depend on how they come along the rest of the week," Devaney said Wednesday.

Deserve No. 1

Colorado assistant coach Pat Culppepper, a former Texas griddle who scouted Nebraska's win over Kansas State, told the Buffs upon returning to Boulder that the Huskers deserve to be rated No. 1.

"Nebraska is a tremendously impressive team," Culppepper said. "They have great physical strength and handle every phase of the game very well."

"They have no apparent weaknesses. I have never seen a squad as big. If I had a vote, there wouldn't be any doubt about them being my No. 1 team."

"The front five (defensively) really play their positions well. I was particularly impressed with linebacker Mike Kennedy."

"I'd call their offense a crunching T. Their offense is really powerful. They just keep crunching you. I thought quarterback Fred Duda ran the team very well."

"Halfback Harry Wilson is as good a halfback as there is in the country. How he can run! And, once on a punt, he hit a Kansas State runner so hard it made a dent in the back's headgear."

"Their fullbacks are fine, too. Everybody knows about Solich. He really operates well behind those big linemen. But his backup man, Pete Tatum, would be a starter on most teams in the country."

CARDS TRADE KEN BOYER

St. Louis, Mets Complete Deal

... RECEIVE SMITH, JACKSON

St. Louis, Mo. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals traded veteran Ken Boyer to the New York Mets Wednesday for third baseman Charley Smith and left-handed pitcher Al Jackson.

Cardinal General Manager Bob Howsam and Met President George Weiss closed the deal in Chicago. It was announced here.

In New York, the Mets said they would also receive a minor league player to be named later.

"We hate to see a player of Ken's caliber go," Howsam said, "because he has been great in his 11 years with the Cardinals. But we had a chance to get a man in Smith who is a power hitter and a good fielder, and a fine starting pitcher in Jackson."

The trade may be the first in a series for the Cardinals, who finished seventh in the National League this year after winning the world championship in 1964.

Boyer had a bad season after suffering a back injury in an exhibition game.

He hit .295, batted in 119 runs and hit 24 home runs in 1964 and was named the league's most valuable player. This year, the 34-year-old Boyer slumped to .260, batted in 75 runs and hit 13 homers.

Smith, 28, hit .344 this past season for the Mets, had 62 RBI and 16 home runs.

Smith had 20 doubles to Boyer's 18 and his slugging percentage was .393 to Boyer's .374.

Jackson, 29, has won more games for the Mets than any other pitcher in the team's four-year history — 40. Last season he won eight and lost 20.

The Cardinals were deeply in need of left-hand pitchers in 1965 after Ray Sadecki, who won 20 games in 1964, was consistently bombed in early innings.

Boyer said recently he would retire after the 1966 season unless his performance improved over 1965.

Boyer, who has been named to the All-Star team seven times, has spent all of his 11 major league seasons with the Cardinals.

One of the league's best fielding third basemen, he also normally batted in the clean-up spot and formed the Cardinals' one-two punch with Stan Musial and then Bill White.

Boyer has hit 255 home runs and driven in 1,001 runs. His career batting average is just under .300.

Last season was Smith's second with the Mets. He hit .239 in 1964, slammed 20 homers and drove in 58 runs in 127 games. He has played for the Chicago White Sox in the American League in parts of three seasons, and for Los Angeles and Philadelphia in the National League in parts of two other seasons. His best batting average was .248 in 1961.

Jackson, a little guy at 5-foot-9, 163 pounds, features a fast ball and sharp breaking curve. His best year was 1963 when he was 13-17 with a 3.96 earned run average.

Wachholtz Still Leads

Despite being held to no returns by Kansas State, Nebraska's Larry Wachholtz continues to top the nation in punt returns, according to figures released Wednesday by the NCAA Service Bureau.

Wachholtz has returned 20 punts for 309 yards, an average of 15.5 per return. Colorado's Charles Greer ranks fourth with 15 returns for 265 yards, an average of 17.7.

Wachholtz also is tied for 17th place in scoring by kicking only with 21 points on field goals and extra point kicks. Bill Rogers of Colorado is in a tie for third with 30.

Husker Frank Solich is 19th in rushing with 398 yards in 63 attempts.

Wearing Red Urged

Jack Andrews, president of the Extra Point Club, Wednesday urged all Nebraska fans to get behind the "wear red" theme in observance of Homecoming.

"We feel Nebraska fans have been great in their wearing of red, but we want those who haven't been to join the act this week," Andrews said.

was strictly a regional affair, matching Southeastern Conference teams and occasionally one from the Southwest Conference.

One of the reasons for that unwritten policy was the racial question, but last year the Sugar Bowl got Syracuse, which had a half dozen Negro players.

Syracuse lost to LSU in the game, and there were no incidents although two weeks later the American Football League shifted its All-Star game from New Orleans because Negro players walked out after complaining of their treatment by taxicab drivers and in French Quarter nightspots.

A Jan. 1 1966, match between Nebraska and LSU was

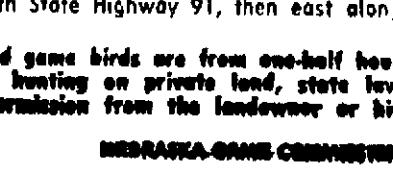

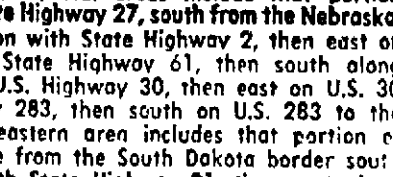

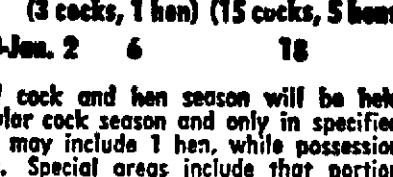

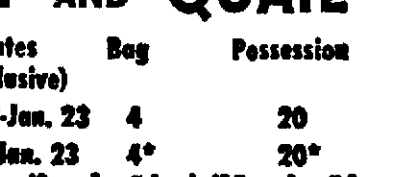

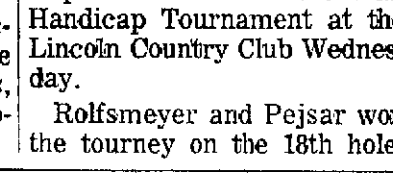

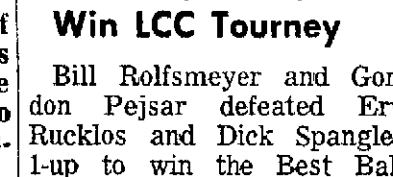

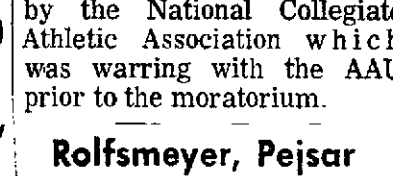

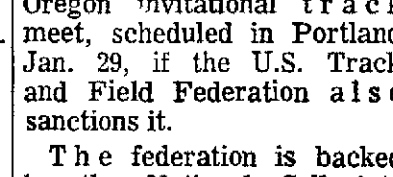

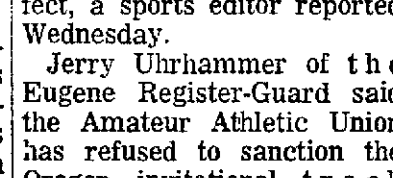

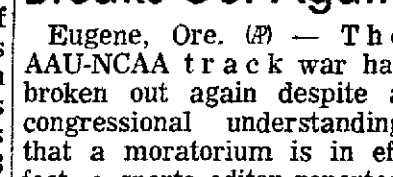

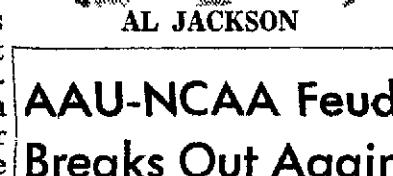

OMAHA BOXER WINS DEBUT

Omaha, Neb. (AP)—Ron Marsh of Omaha won his professional boxing debut Wednesday night on a technical knockout of substitute heavyweight Frank Hester in 1:57 of the first round.

Hester, a professional wrestler from Columbus, Ohio, who was visiting in Omaha, agreed to take the fight when Memphis heavyweight Al Jones failed to appear.

Heavyweight Eddie Demby of Chicago scored a unanimous 10-round decision over veteran LeRoy Green of Kansas City in the co-feature.

Bob Reilly, 158-pounder from Gary, Ind., took a split decision from Rocky Martin of Omaha in the four-round preliminary.

Key Battles Scheduled In Prep Grid Divisions

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

There are key battles in all divisions this week as the Nebraska high school football campaign heads into the final month.

In the Class A ranks second-ranked Bellevue goes against seventh-ranked Omaha Tech, which suffered its first loss last week. The winner here is the likely Boys Town opponent in the November metropolitan playoff contest.

In Class B top-rated York puts its No. 1 spot at stake as it travels to Hebron, ranked No. 6. Both clubs are unbeaten, but tie-.

Other top ten members who could face trouble are fourth-ranked Kimball, which risks its unbeaten string against Gering, and seventh-ranked Plattsmouth, which invades once-beaten Syracuse.

Two members of the Class C top ten, second-ranked West Point and No. 10 Wakefield, collide. The Cadets boast a perfect 6-0 mark while Wakefield is 5-1, its only loss a 7-6 setback at the hands of Class B Wisner.

Another unbeaten string in jeopardy in the Class C ranks is that owned by Wymore.

The Zephyrs play host to Superior, a Class B outfit boasting a 5-1 record. Wilber, the only common opponent, gives little to favor one or the other. Superior whipped the Wolverines, 20-7, while Wymore registered a 19-7 decision.

Top-ranked Elgin St. Boniface puts its unbeaten mark on the line against once-beaten and seventh-ranked Wolbach in the Class D feature. Another battle matching top ten members sends third-ranked Clarks, also unbeaten, against eighth-ranked Palmer, a one time loser.

Seventh-ranked Waco gets the big test in the eight-man division as Dan Brown's club tries to wrest the Crossroads Conference title from Beaver Crossing.

Waco (5-0) and Beaver Crossing (5-1) have met three common foes in Bradshaw, McCool and Hampton and the comparative scores show an 87-point spread over the trio for Waco and an 86-point spread over the three for Beaver Crossing, which has lost only to top-rated Western.

The week's top games and the forecast with selections listed in boldface type:

Northwest at Grand Island —

Plattsmouth at Syracuse —

Superior at Wymore — Backfield speed provides the edge for Zephyrs.

David City at Crete — Edge to Cardinals as both clubs try to rebound.

O Tech at Bellevue — But Chiefs have to contain Tech's speed to stay unbeaten.

Beaver Crossing at Waco — Looks like extra point could decide this one.

Rockets will be ready for any surprise party the Islanders have in mind this week.

Fairbury at Pius X—Thunderbolts strike back in this one.

Beatrice at Southeast—Knights can slow down the Beatrice attack which piled up 57 points last week.

Freemont Bergan at Waverly—Depth decides this battle of the unbeaten.

Hastings at Norfolk — Tigers catching Panthers at a bad time. York at Hebron—It's what's up front that counts.

Plattsmouth at Syracuse — Rockets to produce an upset as they bid for Ak-Sar-Ben playoff spot.

Superior at Wymore—Backfield speed provides the edge for Zephyrs.

Lack Of Depth May Hurt Husker Wrestling Team

... MAIN STRENGTH COMES IN HEAVYWEIGHTS

A lack of depth and the loss of some experienced men will be an important factor as the Nebraska wrestling team under coach Orval Borgialli enters the 1965-66 season.

The team strength will be in the heavier weight classes with Carl Stith, a 244-pound junior having a 14-2 record last year, and LaVerne Allers, a junior in the 191-pound class returning.

Allers, who came out second semester last year, had a 3-0 record going into the Big Eight tournament and took second place in the conference in his weight class. Stith finished third in the tournament and won one match in the National Tournament. Both men are Husker football players.

Another member of the football squad, junior Lynn Senkbeil, will be pushing Allers in the 191-pound class and will add depth in this class.

In the 115-pound class, Ralph Garcia, Lincoln sophomore, and Ron Thon, a sophomore from Wyoming, will be returning. Thon was acclaimed the outstanding Nebraska freshman wrestler of the 1964-65 season and with experience could give strength to the lighter weight classes.

Another frosh letterman, Jerry Langdon, will wrestle in the 123-pound class. A sophomore from Sidney, he did well in the Great Plains Tournament and if cleared of a hardship case he should do well. Adding depth in this weight class is Rodney Schwartz, a junior from Lincoln.

In the 130-pound class, Rick Allgood, a senior and three year letterman will be returning. He had a 9-6 record last year and might have some help from Jerry Langdon if Jerry doesn't wrestle in the lighter weight classes.

The 137-pound class will be shared by senior Bill Rosenthal and Joe Schroer, a junior. Rosenthal has a frosh letter and a varsity manager's letter.

A junior college transfer from Colorado, Alfred Hutchings, could be outstanding in the 145-pound class. He is a junior who could wrestle in either 145 or 152. In 1964 he was on the National Junior College Championship team, placing third himself. Also at 145 is a sophomore from Beatrice, Otto Hallgren. Hallgren is a freshman letter winner.

Addition of the new 152-pound weight class by the NCAA has enlarged the middle weight classes. Wrestling in this new weight class will be Duane Dobson. Dobson was redshirted last year after earning a frosh letter in 1963.

Hutchings can also wrestle in this class.

In the 160-pound class John Hallgren and Harry Gaylor will provide some depth. Hallgren is a senior from Beatrice and has earned a varsity letter. Gaylor is a sophomore from Wyoming, and Ben Barends will alternate between the 167 and 177-pound weight classes, depending on who can get down to the 167 limit. Thompson wrestled under coach Borgialli in high school. Barends is a junior from New Jersey and has a frosh and varsity letter.

From the 42 men who have checked in for wrestling, coach Borgialli hopes to find the depth to improve on last year's 5-11-1 season. Nebraska finished sixth in the Big 8 Conference.

Dunkel Rates Trojans Even With Notre Dame

By DICK DUNKEL

They'll go from one extreme to the other this week in quest of the elusive No. 1 college football rating.

Closest game of the year might be Saturday's TV spectacle, Southern California at Notre Dame.

On the other hand, the greatest mismatch of the season might be the Arkansas-North Texas State fandango at Fayetteville.

Here are pairs which top teams have set over next week-end's opponents. These are index differences showing what they must do in order to maintain current ratings:

Mich. St 12 over Purdue

Arkansas 50 over N. Texas St.

Texas 29 over Rice

Tex. Cal even with Notre Dame

116-103 Pasting Of

New York Knicks

Detroit (AP)—The Detroit Pistons shot a blazing 51 per cent Wednesday night as they routed the New York Knicks 116-103 for their first National Basketball Association victory.

Canning 48 of 94 floor shots, the Pistons broke the game open in the second period after holding only a 23-20 lead after the first 12 minutes.

Higher Education Measure Okayed, Sent White House

Washington (AP)—The Senate passed and sent to the White House Wednesday night a $2.3 billion, three-year program of support for higher education. The House approved the compromise legislation earlier Wednesday and by voice vote the Senate completed congressional action. The far-ranging legislation would provide federal scholarships for needy college students, help pay interest on college loans, build laboratories and equip them and strengthen college libraries and teacher education. It would also establish a corps of specially trained teachers that would be available to local school districts for use in overburdened elementary and secondary schools in low-income areas. This provision touched off the only fight Wednesday as Republicans tried in vain to knock it out. They charged it would lead to federal control of local schools.

Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., who led the fight against it, said the proposal is a dangerous threat to the continued independence of local schools. "We've already made such a large leap toward federal control that we had better stop, look and listen before we add this step," Quie said. His motion to strip the provision from the bill was defeated 226 to 152, and the House went on to pass the bill by a 312-63 vote.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., manager of the bill, said local school authorities would have the power to hire and fire members of the teacher corps and assign them subjects to teach. "There is no federal control whatsoever," he said.

Rebels, Army Halt Fighting

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (AP)—Rebel partisans and Dominican army regulars brought a halt Wednesday to two days of fighting that raised fears of a collapse of the provisional government.

Unarmed rebels and Dominican troops glared at each other across streets, buzzing again with traffic. But there was no trouble.

The government worked on a sweeping weapons search and seizure law designed to prevent the kind of outbreaks that left three civilians dead and seven wounded Tuesday.

The victims were caught in the crossfire of an hours-long exchange between rebel partisans and army regulars entrenched in a downtown fortress.

Angered by a surprise occupation of what they regard as a revolutionary shrine, rebel partisans opened fire on troops President Hector Garcia ordered into the fortress to support a small army detachment guarding the docks where a labor leader was shot dead in a fight between rival unions over ship unloading rights.

The clash between rebel sympathizers and the army demonstrated that a considerable number of weapons remain in the hands of civilians in the downtown area despite a cleanup ostensibly carried out by rebel army leaders before they evacuated the heart of the city last week.

Underestimation

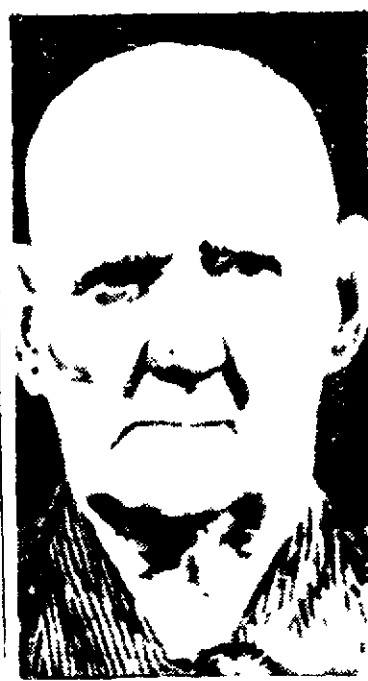

Bombay (AP)—Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri theorized—tongue in cheek—in a speech at Aurangabad that Pakistan's President Ayub Khan underestimated India's militant defense of Kashmir because Indian political leaders wear the dhoti, a loin cloth considered distinctly un-martial by non-Hindus. Indian soldiers wear Western-style battle dress, mostly British-patterned, like the Pakistanis.

Why "Good-Time" Charlie Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense and uncomfortable. Doan's Pills often help to bring prompt relief in two ways: 1) their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and 2) a mild diuretic action through the kidneys tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exercising, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills. With their speedy pain-relieving action, Doan's Pills work promptly to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. As yet the same happy relief that millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. For convenience, use Doan's Pills, large size. Get Doan's Pills today!

TOM BROWN

Convict, 93, Is Released

Lansing, Kan. (UPI)—A 93-year-old convict, possibly the nation's oldest, stepped Wednesday from the confines of prison to a new life in the years he has left.

Tom Brown, who has spent most of the last 35 years in the Kansas State Penitentiary, left under parole because he finally found a suitable place on the outside.

Brown, wearing a blue suit and sportshirt, said as he left the prison, "Now I can die happy."

Brown has been in the Kansas prison most of the time since May 1930. He had four convictions, the last in 1940, for felonious assault and was serving a life sentence under the habitual criminal act.

Admission Drawn

Indio, Calif. (UPI)—The defense drew an admission from a police officer that there was easy access to the house where Gail Neal was shot and killed on the afternoon of April 1.

Senate OKs President's Rent Plan

Washington (AP)—The Senate voted Wednesday to get President Johnson's controversial rent supplement program under way this year by restoring funds eliminated last week by the House.

The action came in two separate roll-call votes. Then the Senate approved by voice vote the $4,867,248,102 supplemental money bill which also contained funds for such major presidential programs as aid to higher education, highway beautification and poverty.

The rent supplement issue was thrown into the conference which will work out differences between the Senate and House versions of the catch-all money bill. The house voted last week for $4,214,429,610, but the Senate considered additional administration requests.

The Senate first voted down 45 to 37 an amendment to cut out the rent supplement program entirely. Then, in a virtually identical 41-37 tally, it defeated a move to cut the rent supplement funds in half.

Before going on to final passage of the money measure, the Senate accepted by voice vote an amendment by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., to provide up to $70 million for loans to victims of Hurricane Betsy which smashed the Gulf states—particularly Louisiana—last month.

Thirteen pieces in a "baker's dozen" originated when King Louis of France warned all bakers who gave under measure that they would be beheaded.

Second Cuban Note Is Sent Amid Mystery Of Refugees

Washington (AP)—Cuba sent a second note to the United States Wednesday amid mystery here over Fidel Castro's real intent on letting freedom-seeking refugees leave his country.

One puzzle for Washington negotiators is the release by anti-Castro exiles in Miami Tuesday of the contents of the first, hitherto-secret Oct. 12 note from Havana on arranging for a mass refugee exodus.

Some U. S. sources figured the Cuban Prime minister deliberately leaked the note this way in a move to score propaganda points and foul up arrangements being worked out in the privacy of diplomatic channels.

Others speculated that the document was slipped to newsmen without Castro's consent. The United States is making

Exodus Seems Resuming In Full Force—Coast Guard

Key West, Fla. (AP)—The exodus of Cuban refugees seems to be resuming in full force, a U.S. Coast Guard spokesman said here Wednesday night.

No refugees had arrived from the official Cuban embarkation port of Camarioca since the pre-dawn hours of Tuesday. This gave rise to speculation that Prime Minister Fidel Castro had called a halt to departures.

However, Associated Press Havana correspondent Isaac Flores said Wednesday night that bad weather along the Cuban coast had forced an interruption in the small boat exodus.

The Coast Guard here said reports indicate that 170 boats were waiting at Camarioca to leave for the U.S. Two boatloads arrived Wednesday. One was from Camarioca. Its occupants said three other boats left with them. The three men who came to Florida in the other said they left from Havana under the pretense of going fishing.

A private inquiry to the Castro government as to whether this was the case.

Another question unanswered so far: Why did the arrival of refugees fleeing Cuba in small boats suddenly stop early Tuesday? More than 600 refugees had shown up in small craft in the Florida waters since Castro let down escape barriers Oct. 10.

Some Washington authorities thought that Castro probably halted the flow temporarily pending arrangements for safer transportation. Others speculated that he had become alarmed about the prospective size of the exodus—perhaps 50,000 or more wanting to leave—and is having second thoughts about his promise to let all those depart who want to.

Amid these circumstances, a second diplomatic communication from the Havana government arrived at the State Department Wednesday morning and was rushed to translators.

The second Cuban note, in Spanish, was sent through diplomatically proper channels: Havana - Bern - Washington. This is established procedure with the Swiss representing U. S. interests in Cuba.

Tremor Hits St. Louis Area

St. Louis, Mo. (AP) — A sharp earth tremor, which one scientist called an earthquake, rocked the Midwest Wednesday night, but there were no reports of injury or serious damage.

The tremor registered between 4.5 and 5 on the Richter scale, the measurement of relative intensity for earthquakes. The disastrous Alaskan earthquake of 1964 registered 8.25.

Dr. Carl Kisslinger, chairman of the geophysics department of St. Louis University, said his school's seismograph placed the quake about 260 miles west of St. Louis. That would put it roughly on the Missouri-Kansas border. Kisslinger called it an earthquake. The shock was felt throughout Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and in parts of Iowa, Nebraska, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas.

As far as the world is concerned this was a modest earthquake," Kisslinger said. "But it was significant even though there apparently was not much damage, because this type of quake is not usually felt in this area."

The quake came at 8:01 p.m., CST. Kisslinger said the tremor lasted 14 minutes on the Richter scale, but it was felt for only a matter of seconds. "It was gradual, and after 10 seconds it became pretty sharp," Kisslinger said.

Some St. Louis residents reported cracked plaster in their homes. In various areas of the city, residents rushed outside while the tremor was still reverberating.

"If it had centered in a town, there would have been quite a bit of damage," Kisslinger said.

HOW . . . Gemini 6 will pull away from Agena rocket after rendezvous 185 miles up.

Gemini 6 Astronauts, Teams Busy On 2 Pads

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 6 astronauts and teams in the control center and on two launching pads were busy Wednesday as preparations entered the home stretch for man's first attempt to link up with another satellite.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported everything was progressing smoothly toward Monday's space doubleheader which calls for two rocket launchings precisely one hour 41 minutes apart.

First, an Atlas-Agena is to hurl the Agena upper stage into orbit as the target satellite at 9 a.m. CST. Then a Titan 2 is to blast off at 10:41 a.m. to propel astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford into space to begin the historic pursuit.

Schirra and Stafford will stay aloft one or two days, depending on when they accomplish the rendezvous and docking.

They were suited up and in their spacecraft atop the Titan 2 Wednesday to rehearse emergency procedures and various phases of the flight.

The early start became necessary when these exercises were postponed Tuesday by a stray electrical signal that upset the memory unit in the spacecraft computer.

There was no trouble Wednesday and the space agency called it an excellent test.

After three hours in the spacecraft, Schirra and Stafford gave way to their backup team of astronauts Virgil Grissom and John Young. Later, Schirra and Stafford ran through additional sessions in a spacecraft simulator in the control center, practicing the intricate maneuvers required for docking.

In the afternoon the service tower was rolled away from the Atlas-Agena and a series of communications checks was conducted with the Agena satellite.

Bar Association Delegates Meet

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska Bar Association's 54-member House of Delegates convened Wednesday to act on reports of 37 special committees.

George Turner of Lincoln, secretary-treasurer of the association, said there appeared to be no controversial issues on the agenda.

The House meets in advance of the bar association convention for which registration begins Thursday. Speakers before the convention will include the president of the American Bar Association, Edward W. Kuhn of Memphis, Tenn.

Also meeting Thursday and Friday will be the Nebraska County Judges Association, the Nebraska County Attorneys Association and the Nebraska District Judges Association.

GROUCHO JOINS LIBRARY ELITE IN AMUSEMENT

Hollywood (AP) — Comedian Groucho Marx said Wednesday night he has been asked to donate his personal papers, manuscripts and letters to the Library of Congress.

"I'm getting quite a kick out of this," Marx said. "My things will be in pretty high class company, next to the Gettysburg Address and the Declaration of Independence."

"The incongruity of this amuses me."

Marx also confirmed that the University of Wisconsin and the University of Michigan also asked for his papers.

Decline In Stock Market Is Mixed

New York (U) — The stock market continued to settle back irregularly Wednesday from its recent upsurge to new records. Trading was active.

For the second straight session more stocks declined than advanced.

Unlike Tuesday, when three popular market averages rose to record highs, Wednesday the averages were somewhat more in line. Two of them declined while the Dow Jones industrial average edged up to another record.

Volume was 8.23 billion shares compared with 8.63 billion Tuesday. The market was mixed from the start and remained that way throughout the session. At the end, however, there was a slightly firmer tone.

Once again, profits were taken in some of the speculative favorites but other familiar ones as well as some newer arrivals in the spotlight showed strength.

Of the 15 most-active stocks advanced.

A rise in new orders for durable goods helped the preponderance of an encouraging picture. An increase in the price for copper, in Chile and elsewhere, helped some of the stocks of that industry.

The Associated Press average of 600 stocks dipped to 350.77 with industrials off 1.14 points to 1,217.13.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 7.13 to 9,481.47.

The Dow Jones stock price index edged up 0.14 to 100.00.

The Dow Jones commodity futures index edged up 0.14 to 100.00.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds declined.

Georgia High School Raided By Screaming Negro Teens

Washington, Ga. (UPI) — About 300 screaming teen-aged Negroes stormed through a Negro school Wednesday, hurling bottles, screaming "freedom songs" and turning classes into chaos.

Anti-Semitism Denunciation Effort Fails

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The United States failed Wednesday in its attempt to write a specific condemnation of anti-Semitism into a proposed treaty against racial discrimination.

By 82-12, with 10 abstentions, the 17-nation Social Committee approved a Greek-Hungarian proposal to delete from the text "any reference to specific forms of racial discrimination."

Israel joined the United States in voting against the proposal, along with Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Britain, Uruguay, Australia and Austria.

William P. Rogers, U.S. delegate and a former attorney general, said the United States and Brazil proposed specific condemnation of anti-Semitism because of a desire to strengthen the proposed treaty.

later when they sprawled on the street before the entrance of the white high school, jerryed the demonstrators hurled bottles at Negro workers, was a shambles.

At Lincoln, 18 miles away, Negroes marched two miles to the courthouse, demonstrated in the rain for 25 minutes and then began marching back to the church.

Bulldozed Down
Two white men leaped out of a pickup truck toward the Rev. Charlie Brown, a Negro leader from Americus, Ga.

The Rev. Mr. Brown dashed across the street but after about 100 yards, one of the men bulldozed him in a tall patch of grass in a vacant lot.

The men cursed him as they began slugging the Rev. Mr. Brown. After about five minutes, Sheriff W. A. Hammond arrived and said, "Boys, let him up."

The Rev. Mr. Brown limped off to join his followers. The white men said the Rev. Mr. Brown had put his hand on their truck and said, "Don't run over us, you white SOB's."

Hammond said he would make no arrests unless charges were filed.

At Washington, a line of 15 state troopers and local officers met the march of 200 young Negroes near the white high school, Washington-Wilkes Highway Patrol Capt. Theron Aldridge repeatedly and politely asked the youths to disperse.

'PUNCHY' SLAIN

Edward J. (Punchy) McLaughlin, 47, was shot and killed Wednesday, the 24th victim of gangland war in Greater Boston in 19 months. Wounded twice previously, McLaughlin was one of three notorious underworld brothers.

Indiana Ratifies Disability Change

Indianapolis, Ind. (AP)—Both houses of the Indiana General Assembly suspended rules Wednesday to pass a joint resolution to amend the U.S. Constitution on presidential succession.

The amendment, authored by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., was hurried through the Senate 5-0, and was passed in the House, 88-1.

The legislature is in special session to reapportion itself.

Sugar Bill Is Passed

... BY SENATE

Washington, Oct. 20 — The Senate passed the sugar bill Wednesday, giving domestic growers bigger production and keeping Congress' right to set foreign quotas county-by-county.

The vote for passage was 66 to 16. Both Nebraska senators, Republicans Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska, voted for the bill.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., pleaded for approval, saying the increase of 580,000 tons a year for U. S. growers will save many from bankruptcy.

The Senate bill is much closer to recommendations by President Johnson than a measure passed by the House. A conference committee will have to work out differences in the two.

Amendments Nixed

The Senate turned down numerous amendments, including one by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., that would have eliminated country-by-country quotas for foreign producers.

Long opposed this, saying, "It takes the position that Congress can't be trusted and the administration can."

The United States is the sweetest market in the world. It pays a premium price of about 6.85 cents a pound compared to a world cost of around 2 cents a pound.

Both domestic and foreign producers get the premium price, initiated because of production costs in this country and the fact the United States does not grow enough sugar to meet consumer demands.

Feeling On Lobbyists

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said many countries felt that those who hire expensive lobbyists to appear before congressional committees can get their quotas increased.

"And it does great harm to our Latin American relations," he said.

Both the House and Senate versions give U. S. growers about 65% of the market, broken down like this: 3,025,000 tons for domestic beet sugar, an increase of 375,000 tons; 1,100,000 tons for mainland cane sugar, an increase of 205,000 tons; 1,110,000 tons for Hawaii; 1,140,000 tons for Puerto Rico, and 15,000 tons for the Virgin Islands.

40% Share

The two bills each would assign the U. S. market growth over the next six years to foreign quotas, until nondomestic producers regained the 40% share of the United States market they have had up until this year.

Fulbright's amendment, which was defeated 43 to 38, would have let the Agriculture Department set quotas next year as it did this year. It called, too, for the President to submit recommendations for a permanent allocation system for the future.

Hruska voted in favor of the Fulbright amendment. Curtis voted against it.

Morris To Meet With Budgeters On Home Funds

State Institutions Director George Morris said he will meet with the Legislature's Budget Committee to discuss a financial dilemma over a proposed nursing home facility at Grand Island.

Morris said funds to carry out the project are lacking since Congress sliced some $250,000 from Nebraska's request for half a million dollars in matching money. State funds would finance $1 3 million.

The nursing home would be built at the Soldiers' and Sailors' home at Grand Island.

Morris said he will ask the Budget Committee for authority to use other department funds to make up the $250,000 deficit.
